Troops at Gibraltar

LONDON (AP)—The troopship Somerset, carrying approximately 2,000 British soldiers to Palestine, today was ordered to remain at Gibraltar until the arrival there of the 1st Battalion of the Welsh Guards Regiment.

The latter will leave at the coming week-end, having been ordered last Saturday to reinforce the garrison of Britain's stronghold at the entrance to the Mediterranean.

Swedish Troops Train

LONDON (AP)—The Exchange Telegraph, a British news agency, reported from Stockholm today the Swedish government had decided to call up the 1935 class of army recruits—approximately 14,000 men—for a month's preparedness service. The precaution will cost approximately $1,625,000.

Britain to Have New Department Of Army Supply

Cabinet Reported To Have Decided On Further Speed-up

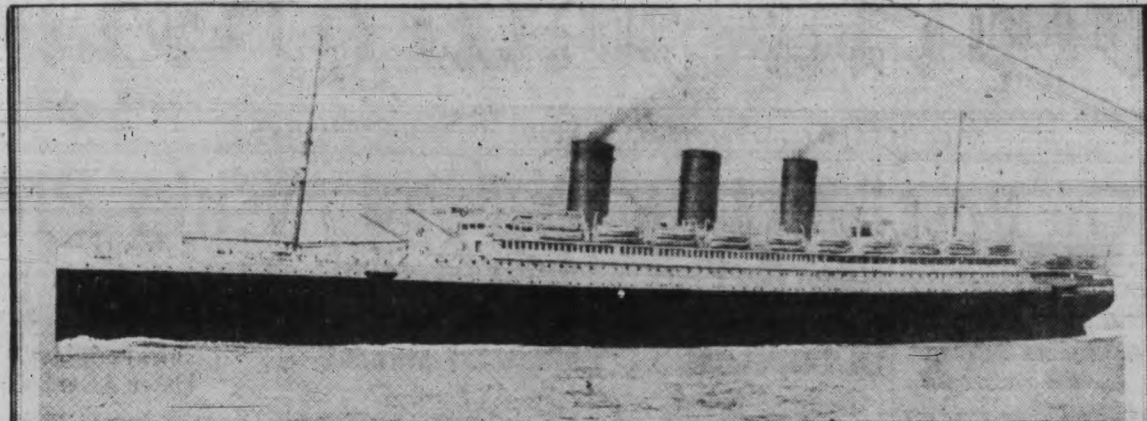

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON—The British government has decided to establish a department of supply to speed up delivery of munitions and military supplies, it was reported today after a two-hour cabinet meeting.

At the same time rumors increased that Winston Churchill may join the Chamberlain government, perhaps succeeding Viscount Runciman as Lord President of the Council.

The government was reported to be in favor of a department of supply which would be expanded in time of war to a full-fledged ministry of munitions, with wide control over labor and industry.

The main purpose of the department would be to secure priority in industry for government armament contracts. It was not immediately apparent whether it would be under control of a member of the cabinet or a junior minister.

Hitler Is Program, Says Goebbels

New Training For British Youth

Reported Cabinet In Favor of Physical Instruction

LONDON (AP)—The cabinet, which met today, was understood to have considered these measures:

Adoption of some form of compulsory service.

Reorganization of the voluntary national service register—the listing of volunteers for emergency jobs in wartime—so as to release additional men for service in the territorial army.

Inauguration of compulsory nonmilitary physical training for youth.

A policy of building deep air-raid shelters.

It was believed unlikely the cabinet would alter its present view that conscription would be unwise at this stage. The ministers fear compulsory military service would antagonize a large section of the trade union movement.

It was believed, however, the government would approve a system of compulsory physical training for youth under the joint direction of the board of health and education.

Meanwhile, diplomatic activity to obtain fresh pledges in the British-French system of guarantees against German-Italian expansion shifted from London to the capitals of Soviet Russia, Turkey and Bulgaria.

Political quarters said the effort in Moscow was to obtain individual pledges by Soviet Russia to nations of the French-British front to give military aid when requested.

EXHIBITS AT TRIAL MORE THAN 2,500

Great List Filed At Tobacco Hearing In Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—Exhibits filed in the preliminary hearing of "combine" charges against 44 tobacco jobbers and manufacturers neared the 2,600 mark today as the case continued.

With J. M. O'Brien of Montreal, sales manager of the Imperial Tobacco Sales Company still on the stand, crown counsel A. L. Smith, K.C., read through correspondence concerning the efforts of the Merco Wholesale Ltd. of Edmonton to have itself listed as a jobber entitled to buy tobacco products from manufacturers' sales outlets at wholesale prices.

The manufacturers refused for a long time to sell their goods to the firm because it was considered to be a co-operative rather than a real jobbing house and also because there were already enough jobbing distributors in this territory, the correspondence indicated.

Earlier Mr. O'Brien had given evidence concerning the effort by one manufacturer to market a cigarette named for the Canadian Legion and the opposition to that move which was construed as a breach of sales agreements because of the pledge that a proportion of the profits from the sale would revert to the Legion.

Question On Repulse

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Robert Boothby, Conservative, today announced he would ask in the House of Commons "whether in view of the international situation arrangements can be made to have H.M.S. Repulse retained as a unit of the fleet in European waters."

The Repulse has been prepared to take the King and Queen across the Atlantic on their visit to Canada next month.

ANTI-AGGRESSION TALKS CONTINUE

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today Britain still was in communication with other governments about enlarging the French-British front, but he had nothing to report on the progress of conversations.

The Prime Minister, pressed to include China and other Far Eastern governments in his bloc of nations, said he would bear in mind the "desirability" of such a move.

Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the House that "there has recently been a substantial increase in the number of men under arms in Italy and a corresponding increase of the forces in the Dodecanese Islands." He gave no figures.

HUNGARY DECLARES FOR AXIS POLICY

Premier Visiting Rome Speaks of Friendship With Totalitarians

ROME (AP)—Italy, manoeuvring with Germany for position in the current European crisis, appeared today to have found Hungary firmly to the Rome-Berlin axis.

The Hungarian Premier, Count Paul Teleki, in an after-dinner toast to Premier Mussolini last night at the Palazzo Venezia, declared his country was "faithful to the policy of the axis which Hungary has spontaneously adopted."

Mussolini, in a similar speech, reaffirmed a friendship which "unites the strength of each country in the defence of order and peace."

The axis diplomatic campaign, which began last week-end with German Marshal Herman Goerring's visit to Rome, will continue after the scheduled Thursday departure of the Hungarian premier and his foreign minister, with Italian-Jugoslav and Italian-Rumanian talks.

The exact nature of yesterday's Italian-Hungarian conferences remained secret, but observers in Rome assumed they touched on Hungary's desire for growth like that of Italy and Germany.

Having tasted of expansion by her absorption of Ruthenia (Carpatho-Ukraine) and parts of Slovakia in the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, Hungary's main claims are centred now on western Roumania and northern Yugoslavia, where lie territories once part of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

Hungarian Scores Roosevelt Appeal

ROME (AP)—Stefani, official Italian news agency, today published an interview with the Hungarian foreign minister, Count Stephen Cskay, in which the visitor was quoted as calling President Roosevelt's nonaggression appeal "an unwelcome surprise."

"I believe there does not exist two Hungarians in the world who have been able to forget the story of the 14 points of the late President Wilson," the foreign minister said.

"They do not forget that the Treaty of Trianon (which ended the Great War for Hungary and fixed her diminished boundaries) was the result of the 14 points and its results too tragic for us all not to feel in our bones a sense of resentment for what has happened damaging effective peace as a result of the Trianon Treaty."

"This explains how I, for example, feel myself incapable of judging without clear prejudice the new American interference in the affairs of Central Europe."

Australia May Have Election

CANBERRA (CP-Reuters)—Sir Earle Page, leader of the Country Party, today refused to enter a coalition cabinet under Robert Gordon Menzies, chosen yesterday to succeed the late Prime Minister Joseph Lyons as leader of the United Australia Party.

Under Mr. Lyons the two parties, with a working majority in Parliament, had co-operated for five years. Last month Mr. Menzies, then Attorney-General, resigned when the Country Party members of the cabinet persuaded the government to junk an old age pension scheme because of the mounting cost of defence.

Mr. Menzies still champions the pension scheme. The Country Party, representing the farmers who, it was said, would benefit least under the plan, stands opposed.

It was thought the critical international situation might induce a compromise solution of the tangle. However, the more pessimistic observers said there was little chance of avoiding a general election.

BALANCE OF POWER

One report said Sir Earle Page, who became acting prime minister when Mr. Lyons died April 7, would recommend that Lord Gowrie, the Governor-General, summon Mr. Menzies to form a cabinet, with the Country Party withholding its support and refusing to participate.

This would compel Mr. Menzies to rely solely on the United Australia Party with 26 seats in the House of Representatives. The Country Party, with 17 seats, would hold the balance of power between the government and the Labor opposition, with 29 seats.

Mr. Menzies has already let it be known if he becomes Prime Minister there will be a drastic shake-up of the cabinet personnel. For some months prior to his resignation as Attorney-General March 14 the new leader of the United Australia Party had been in repeated disagreement with Mr. Lyons and the cabinet majority, particularly on defence matters.

Accused Man Says Bombers Numerous

Four Before London Court On Charges Of Having Explosives

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Four Irishmen appeared in the Bow Street police court today on charges of illegal possession of explosives.

One of them, John Joseph Keane, 37, described as a porter, was alleged to have stated at the moment of his arrest: "For every one of us pulled in 20 will step into the breach."

This testimony was given by Inspector William Whitehead, who said he had searched Keane's house in Camden Road yesterday and found a quantity of explosive substances.

The other three who appeared at Bow Street were Joseph McGillycuddy, 27; Dennis McGillycuddy, 25; and John Murphy, 24, all laborers.

The McGillycuddys were accused of having in their possession a stock of gelignite and other articles, including a metal fuse and alarm clock. Murphy was charged with having a hand grenade in his possession.

All four men were remanded in custody for seven days.

Police flying squads carried out a thorough search of public telephone booths early today following two bombings in the Euston district, believed to have been engineered by Irish terrorists responsible for similar incidents in Liverpool.

BERLIN (AP)—Convicted of conveying military secrets to foreign agents for money, Walter Hermann, 24, and Walter Hertwig, 19, were beheaded at dawn today. Whether they died under the axe or on the guillotine was not disclosed.

Relief Debate In Fourth Day

M.P.'s Hear Manion Suggest Pooling of Brains to Add Work

OTTAWA (CP)—Debate on unemployment went into its fourth day in the Commons this afternoon.

"In my opinion this House should not think of prorogation until we have something far more definite laid down with respect to two problems which were pressing in 1935 and which are still urgent—unemployment and the problem of agriculture," said M. J. Caldwell, C.C.F., Rosetown, Sask., said last night.

Criticism of the government on the ground it had failed to deal with the problem became more acute and centred chiefly on the plight of single unemployed transients.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, said the efforts of Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, had been largely a failure and it was a national calamity that more had not been done to cure unemployment, which was certain to destroy the present political and economic system if not remedied. At the same time Dr. Manion accused the Social Credit and C.C.F. parties of trying to claim they alone were concerned with the plight of the unemployed and their pet theories contained the only remedies.

"This government is at least part, and I think largely to blame for the fact that we have demoralized among our young men which should and could be largely eliminated if those young men were given a chance to earn their living. Many of them have lost ambition and it is getting worse," he said.

POOLING OF BRAINS

A pooling of the best brains of the country in order to obtain a remedy was suggested by the Conservative leader. He said he had made the same suggestion when he was in office and thought it was not yet too late to call to Ottawa leaders in industry, in organized labor, in the churches and in other fields and set them to work devising plans.

Two rural Ontario members, Dr. J. K. Blair, Liberal, North Wellington, and R. M. Warren, Liberal, North Renfrew, aroused opposition members when they suggested many transients did not want to work. Dr. Blair spoke of some transients as "spineless," "yaps" and "pup-fed." He emphasized he was not speaking for the Liberal party and his remarks were based on his experiences, particularly with men from Toronto.

"The trouble is the young men today are lacking in spine," he said.

"That is slander," said J. C. Landeryou, Social Credit, Calgary East.

"Yes, and you fellows are encouraging them in a lot of nonsense," retorted Dr. Blair. "I have tried to get men time and again to work. I have one farm idle and I want someone to work it. I am offering to equip it and supply it with grain and whoever works it can take half the profits and I will give him part of his wages as he goes along."

"I have asked many men in the two weeks to take the farm, but when I approach some capable fellow I find there is beer on his breath. Then I try another fellow to see if his breath is free of beer. These fellows are out licking up beer and smoking cigarettes and I cannot have them around my barn smoking cigarettes."

BOARD AND WAGES

Mr. Warren said many transients were that way from choice. In his own community men left the farms and went to work in the lumber camps. He never knew of one who could not return at any time and find some farmer who would employ him at least for his board and enough wages to provide clothing.

A protest at the partisan tone of the debate came from Mrs. George Black, Conservative, Yukon, who said that berating the Minister of Labor would not help the unemployed. She appealed to Social Credit and C.C.F. members to discuss the problem without bias.

Mrs. Black's experiences with single unemployed men were not more favorable than those of Dr. Blair, but she thought the poor included those poor in spirit and in character as well as those poor in goods. Prolonged unemployment undermined morale. In giving money to a number of men who asked for help she had furnished each with self-addressed envelope and asked them to write to her. Not one had written a line of thanks.

SEES ECONOMIC CONTROL DANGERS

Hard for Canada to Resist Regeneration, Says Rogers

OTTAWA (CP)—Failing a return of the world to normal trading conditions, Canada may find it difficult to resist the tendency to set up a self-sustained economy involving regimentation, loss of liberty and a lower standard of living, Hon. Norman Rogers told the House of Commons last night in the debate on unemployment.

The minister of labor was questioned by J. C. Landeryou, Social Credit, Calgary East, who advocated a new economic system based on Social Credit monetary theories.

"Does the minister think under the present economic system that we shall ever be able to employ all the unemployed who are employable?" asked Mr. Landeryou.

"The honorable member has put a difficult question," replied Mr. Rogers. "I did believe three years ago that there was a reasonable prospect, given a return to normal conditions of international trade, that this country could absorb from year to year the annual accretion of potential wage earners. Lacking normal conditions of trade it has not been possible for this country to do that thing."

"Frankly, as one looks ahead one cannot but feel that our ability as a country to absorb our unemployed in industry depends in a very large measure, if not entirely, on a resumption of normal conditions of international trade. If we do not secure that we may find it extremely difficult to counter the contrary tendency towards building up a self-contained economy in this country."

"Under a self-contained economy I believe it would be possible to provide regimented employment to all of our inhabitants. But it could only be at a tremendous cost to the average standard of living of the people of this country and also at a very great cost to human liberty."

Canada's Place in Regency Studied

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal, addressed a set of questions to the government in the Commons yesterday on Canada's constitutional position in the event of the functions of the sovereign being exercised by a regency and Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, promised to answer them as fully as possible.

Mr. Cahan said the Regency Act of the United Kingdom, which provides for the illness or absence of the King or the succession to the throne of a person under 18 years of age, apparently did not apply to Canada.

Mr. Cahan wanted to know:

1. Whether a regent ipso facto would resume all the royal functions in relation to Canada?
2. If not, why was Canada's assent not given to the application of the Imperial Regency Act to Canada?
3. Is it assumed that Canada has legislative authority to provide for the exercise of royal functions by a regent?
4. What is Canada's constitutional position in relation to the exercise of power by councillors of state under the Regency Act?

Mr. Lapointe said it was not the custom for the government or the minister of justice to give legal opinions, but insofar as the questions related to matters of fact they would be answered.

Vancouver Owner Of Kinkajou Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—William H. Phipps, Vancouver relief recipient who was well known among citizens here as master of a strange South American kinkajou, was found dead in his room here yesterday.

Detectives Gordon Ambrose and Jack Horton, who investigated the case, reported they were "fought off" by Phipps' fox terrier, which first refused to allow them to touch the body of its master.

The kinkajou is reported missing.

Many Victorians saw the Kinkajou and its master when they visited the annual exhibition last fall.

Trade Treaty Approved
OTTAWA (CP)—Third reading was given by the Senate last night to the bill embodying the new Canada-United States trade agreement.

Cleric, Liberal, Shefford, Quebec, making it illegal to sell any product which does not conform to the definition of butter in the Dairy Industry Act as butter, was talked out by T. L. Church, Conservative, Toronto—Broadview, after a group of members, chiefly from the Quebec Eastern Townships, had supported it.

Increased Tension Seen

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano, commenting yesterday on President Roosevelt's peace appeal to Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini, said that "considering the decisively hostile reception, it must be stated that international tension has been aggravated at least from the psychological point of view."

SENATE RATIFIES TRADE AGREEMENT

Canadian Parliament Completes Action On Pact With United States

OTTAWA (CP)—With only four members speaking in the debate, the Senate last night gave second and third reading to the bill ratifying the Canada-United States trade treaty.

The agreement previously had been ratified by the Commons after weeks of strenuous discussion, and now awaits royal assent before formally becoming law. It has been in operation, however, since January 1.

Senator Raoul Dandurand, government leader, said every province benefited by freer entry into the United States market and industry as a whole approved the new treaty. Although concessions were made in some instances Canadian interests had not been sacrificed.

Stating he did not approach the agreement in any spirit of hostility, Senator A. McElhen, Conservative leader, said that although the balance was against Canada, there was a lot to be said for any treaty which brought Great Britain and the United States closer together.

Mr. McElhen was caustic about some aspects of the trade pact. "Why picture this treaty as a blessing when we are not blessed? It is ridiculous," he said, to suggest that a particularly beneficial treaty could be made with a country which was Canada's greatest competitor in every line of activity.

Applauded for Rescue

OTTAWA (CP)—Romeo Latreille, a 16-year-old pageboy in the House of Commons, was given an ovation yesterday afternoon, when, shortly after the House opened, attention was called to his part in saving the life of six-year-old Jeanette Fox, who fell into a creek on the outskirts of Ottawa last Sunday.

Rev. Daniel McIvor, Liberal, Fort William, recounted the incident and asked the boy to stand and receive the acclaim of the members. Blushing, Romeo stood while members pounded their desks.

The page and a companion, George Robillard, plunged into the creek and saved Jeanette, being carried rapidly into the Ottawa River.

U.S. Czechs Organize

CHICAGO (AP)—Creation of a Czechoslovakian national council to co-ordinate movements for the restoration of Czechoslovakia's independence was planned today by three organizations.

The Slovak American Alliance, the Czech National Alliance and the Czech Catholic Alliance, representing 1,500,000 Americans of Czech and Slovak descent, propose to combat the spread of Fascism in the United States as well as encourage Czechs and Slovaks of Germany to work for independence.

DEFENCE MEASURES BY SOUTH AFRICA

Government Insists On Freedom of Decision If War Comes

CAPETOWN (CP-Reuters)—Oswald Pirow, South African defence minister, in a speech at Paarl yesterday urged a free hand for the government to decide its course in the event of war in the light of conditions then prevailing.

"There are circumstances in which we might become involved, and the government's hand should be strengthened in order that we may meet any trouble with a united front," Mr. Pirow said.

"It would be criminal for any government to drag this country into war if it could be avoided, but to say in advance that we would remain neutral in all circumstances would be only encouraging the enemy."

BRITISH EXPORTS TO U.S. EXPAND

LONDON (AP)—Signs of "considerable expansion" in the export of British goods to the United States since the signing of the Anglo-American trade treaty were reported to the House of Commons yesterday by Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade.

U.S. exports to Great Britain, he said, were declining but, in reply to a question, he said it was too early to "draw any definite conclusion from statistics at present available."

Mr. Stanley said British exports to the United States for the first two months of 1939 exceeded those of the equivalent 1938 period by more than $1,000,000 ($4,700,000).

He added "imports from the United States showed a substantial decline, but it must be remembered that imports from this source were at their peak level last year."

(Trade pacts with Great Britain and Canada were signed at Washington November 17.)

French Spy Executed

NANCY, France (AP)—A 26-year-old Frenchman, Francois Helmuth Gruneberg, died as a spy before a firing squad yesterday.

Gruneberg, a forester who worked in the area along the Maginot defence line facing Germany, was arrested at the time of the September crisis, charged with obtaining military information for "a foreign power," and was condemned January 4 by a courtmartial.

Chinese Courage Persists

ALTHOUGH THE SINO-JAPANESE UN-declared war is now in its 22nd month, with no visible prospect of its early termination either as a stalemate or by conclusive victory one way or the other, a statement issued by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to newspapermen at Chungking is indicative of Chinese optimism even if it may be partly the product of wishful thinking. Chiang dismisses the thought of peace "under existing circumstances" as out of the question; but he appears to be thoroughly convinced that Japan already has been reduced to the status of a second-rate power, which suggests that "the moment surely is coming when she no longer can bear the strain—then will the peace hope dawn."

It is true Japan has won most of the battles fought on Chinese territory. It is equally true that her unprovoked assault has rendered China a service that practically no other agency could have rendered. She has united the Chinese people as they have never been united before. She has done more than that in spheres remote from those in which Japanese soldiers continue to employ their diabolical war technique. For it has now begun to dawn on the totalitarian mentality in Tokio that the boycott weapon is being used with growing effectiveness from day to day in many parts of the world. This is largely the work of Chinese patriots who do not, as a rule, become absorbed culturally and politically into the countries where they reside. But they retain their connections with China and a strong interest in the affairs of their motherland.

While the people of Victoria and other parts of Canada and the United States are playing a valiant role in the operation of economic pressure in those forms open to them, it is gratifying to note that the 7,000,000 Chinese scattered through such countries as British Malaya, the Netherlands Indies, the Philippines, French Indo-China, and within the borders of Japan have reduced the boycott to perfection.

Apparently the movement has been strongest in the Straits Settlements, where the Japanese complain it has been aided by the "connivance" of the British authorities and the English-language press. The success of the boycott in the countries to which we have referred, moreover, is borne out by Japanese trade statistics—a 54 per cent decline in exports to southeastern Asia in the first eight months of last year, and now averaging a loss of 20,000,000 yen a month. Thus no matter to what inconspicuous extent the boycott and embargo policy is applied it is a case of every little helps—the Chinese.

Whose Fault Was It?

IF THOSE MEMBERS OF THE CO-operative Commonwealth Federation in Vancouver Centre who failed to vote at the last provincial general election did not get on the electoral roll again they have nobody to blame but themselves. But why charge Prime Minister Pattullo with a "smart piece of Liberal trickery" because his prompt decision to fill the vacancy in the Legislature caused by the death of Alderman Fred Crane, M.P.P., unexpectedly drew attention to opposition dilatoriness?

As Mr. George M. Phillips, registrar of voters for Vancouver, very properly points out, the Provincial Elections Act automatically removes the names of all voters who did not mark ballots in the previous general election—held on June 1, 1937—and that no fewer than 13,691 names were so dealt with in strict accordance with the law. Mr. Phillips further emphasizes that every individual subjected to this mandatory treatment received an official notice advising him or her to that effect. Accompanying the notice was a reinstatement form to permit individuals to have their names restored to the list. Although ample time was allowed, however, he received only 316 replies. In addition to this procedure, Mr. Phillips reminds grumblers that his office in the Court-house had been open every day since the last election to permit persons to attend to the requirements of re-registration.

Apart from the C.C.F.'s natural annoyance that its organization appears to be suffering from apathetic management, the fact that Mr. Phillips had only received applications for reinstatement from 316 out of more than 13,500 names is anything but complimentary to the significance and value of the franchise.

The Rake's Progress

AMONG THE NOTABLE REACTIONS to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's more recent prosecution of his "Mein Kampf" policy has been his desertion by that small but highly influential section of the London press which has either openly lauded him or passively condoned his conduct. In the former class was Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail, now unflinchingly hostile; in the second category is The Times, which belonged to the "be-nice-to-Germany" school of thought; now employing sardonic words to register its antipathy to the totalitarian philosophy. But perhaps it has remained for the Spectator, always supporting honesty in democracy, to sum up the general feeling of the British press. Based on its unwavering distrust of Hitlerian promises it says:

"All negotiations are based upon some principle and Herr Hitler acknowledges none but the hegemony of his country. In the interests of that he will lie, deceive, threaten and rape."

On the eve of the fiftieth anniversary of his birth Reichsfuehrer Hitler may, or may not, take time to reflect that his entire career in his march to unexampled power is a road strewn with broken promises and pledges. Early on it, he concluded a Concordat with the Vatican. It was not long before in letter and spirit he was permitting his minions to violate it by wholesale arrests of priests; interference with Catholic schools and youth organizations. At the beginning of his anti-Semitic rules and regulations, he said that Jews who had fought in the World War should be exempt from persecution. The whole world knows the sequel—the very names of fallen Jewish soldiers have disappeared from German war memorials.

On May 21, 1935, the Fuehrer expressed unconditional respect for the territorial clauses of the peace treaties, revision only being by the method of peaceful understanding. Furthermore, by his pact with Austria on July 11, 1936, he guaranteed its independence as a sovereign state. Thirteen months ago both the promise and the pact were made worthless by invasion and completion of the Anschluss. Everybody remembers this notorious statement: "We have no more territorial demands to make in Europe." But he has been doing nothing but making territorial demands ever since. Yet after he had fished the Sudetenland from the republic of Czechoslovakia, for example, he said, in a speech at the Sportsplatz in Berlin:

"This is the last territorial claim which I have to make in Europe." In that same speech he added:

"We do not want any Czechs. When they have come to an understanding with their other minorities, Poles and Hungarians, I shall not be interested in the Czech state any more and, so far as I am concerned, I can guarantee it." On October 9, 1938, in a speech at Saarbruecken, he declared: "Now, as a strong state, we can be ready to pursue a policy of understanding with surrounding states. We want nothing from them. We have no wishes, no claims."

Herr Hitler shattered all his promises, however, when he seized the remnants of the Czechoslovak state for himself and made 7,500,000 Czechs his subjects. Since he repossessed Memel on March 22, of course, he has been consulting "Mein Kampf." He might be inclined to help himself to a large birthday present—perhaps a tasty morsel in Poland—if his Bible had not been buried for the time being under the "Stop Hitler" program and held down by President Roosevelt's weighty initiative.

Lady Aberdeen

BRITISH COLUMBIA HAS AN SPECIAL share in the widespread regret occasioned by the death yesterday of the Marchioness of Aberdeen. In her broadcast last year from her native Scotland to Vancouver, on the occasion of the annual meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada, which she founded, Lady Aberdeen said:

"It thrills my heart to think that my voice can be heard in the dear province of British Columbia, to which province for many years we owed special allegiance, in virtue of our beloved Coldstream Ranch in the Okanagan, where I and my husband and children spent so many happy years."

Lady Aberdeen's long and extremely useful association with Canada began when she came to Ottawa in 1893 at the time of her late husband's appointment as Governor-General. During her five years as chateleine of Rideau Hall, she proved herself a fearless and outspoken leader in reforms at a time when women, of course, were not expected to be articulate in public affairs. She founded the National Council of Women and the Victorian Order of Nurses—two bodies whose liberal contribution to the wellbeing of Canadian life will remain as a living and lasting memorial to her great love of humanity, and none the less to her genius for organization.

GERMANY AND DENMARK

From Irish Independent (Dublin)
There is considerable speculation as to Herr Hitler's next point of attack. Denmark appears to offer a tempting target. She is small, comparatively defenceless, and a close neighbor. There would be no great difficulty in finding an excuse for attacking her. There are in Denmark about 30,000 persons of German descent, mainly in Schleswig, which, at different times in its history, was German territory. Among these German-minded people a steady Nazi propaganda has been in operation for some years, and economic pressure on Denmark is being used to back up their demands.

To a man of Herr Hitler's mentality it is nothing that the small groups of Germans in Denmark have no grievances against the state in which they live. They are treated with perfect equality. German education has all the liberty that could be desired in the schools, the German language is allowed in the law courts. Hard driven for a cause of complaint, they say the soil of Schleswig is German, and that, in their opinion, settles the matter. At the end of the Great War the Allies proposed to return to Denmark the two duchies, Schleswig and Holstein, which had been taken from her in 1864 by Prussia and Austria. This would have included the Kiel Canal, but, wisely enough, the Danes refused to take over any territory with a large German population. Their moderation should be recognized now, instead of making it a cause of attack.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

DO WARS END WAR?

IT SEEMS ONLY A FEW YEARS ago since we were engaged in a desperate struggle which, in most minds, was "somewhat vaguely considered as "a war to end war." Yet today the world once again appears to be hovering from day to day on the very brink of war. No one is sure whether the war, if it comes, will be as bad or worse than the last war. But one thing is sure. That is that we can never end war by war alone. It is new organization for peace and not more deadly weapons of defence that the world most needs today.

In one sense it might seem to be the essence of irony to say that the world as a whole has made any progress towards real peace in the present century. Yet the world has actually taken gigantic strides in the right direction. For hundreds of years wars were considered a natural and inseparable part of human life. Few ever dreamed of challenging the rightness of fighting. In primitive Christian times, of course, a considerable number of brave souls chose death rather than military service. And many centuries later there were such admirable sects as the Friends or Quakers, who believed that all participation in all war was wrong. But the question was not vital and universal. For until this century in almost every war fought only a percentage of the able-bodied men were ever engaged. Those who had moral scruples against fighting could escape military service on various other grounds. When the Quaker sea captain was asked how he justified his scruples against war with the fact that he had to protect his ship against pirates, he said that the question of violence did not arise because as each pirate clambered over the side of the ship he simply seized him and gently dropped him back into the sea.

But when, in the last war, the technique of fighting swung more and more toward complete brutality; and when wars engaged not only the whole manpower of two nations but indirectly involve the whole world then the question becomes vital. And the world has learned a lot in the last 25 years in spite of superficial evidence to the contrary.

THREE PATHS TO PEACE

THERE ARE, SO FAR AS I know, but three paths along which human beings can travel towards wiping out war as an institution. One is by adopting what is called pacifism. Another is by promoting between nations friendship so strong as to make war impossible. The third is to replace war by law, supported by adequate police force. Personally I do not believe that any of these methods is much use while the world remains in its present condition—except the third.

If enough people in enough nations had enough vision and courage to take as a fixed rule of life a determination not to take part in any way in war of any kind we might get world peace more quickly than by any other method. But such a movement, to have any effect, would have to be more courageous and not less courageous than the armies of the world. To say you do not choose to fight does not mean anything unless you are ready to be led out and shot before the nearest stone wall for your principles. If enough people in all countries were really willing to do this we might have a new thing in world history, a truly spiritual revolution.

But such pacifism is at the opposite pole of moral values from mere nonintervention in war simply because such a policy suits the temporary selfish interests of the nation or the individual better than participation.

The greatest mistake that any nation can make at the present stage of world history is to imagine that she can pick and choose between the wars to enter and the wars to avoid. If we should have learned anything at all from the last war, and from its aftermath, it is that peace is indivisible, and that as long as power politics goes on between the nations wars will recur periodically. And under modern technique the mass killing of women and children, by poison gas as well as by bombs, is an inseparable part of war. The only sure way to stop this is to stop war. And the only way that I can see to stop war is to set up a world system to enforce peace.

THE SEVEN SINNERS

THERE WERE 66 NATIONS which signed the Kellogg-Briand Pact just 10 years ago, in which they solemnly promised never again to go to war. If it were not for the seven great world powers there would be no problem at all in keeping the peace. Never in all history did the big fellows have relatively so much power as they have today. No small nation can resist even one of them effectively. They could keep the peace of the world with almost ridiculous ease if only they could establish a real peace system between themselves.

I cannot even make a good guess as to whether peace between the seven great powers is likely to come along what might be called League of Nations lines or whether it will come by conquest. In the philosophy of present-day Germany, Italy and Japan the idea of conquest is inherent. The Nazis, too, believe in eventual world peace, but they foresee it along the lines of the earlier Roman empires—that is peace imposed from a central authority.

They may be right at that. If the world slips over the slope just ahead, a dictated peace may be the only practicable peace to result from the war. If the democracies really have to fight again, and with their backs to the wall, it might be just as well to know from the beginning that the net outcome of the war is going to be an imposed peace—that is that the winners are going to take from the losers all power to make war and disturb the international peace.

Death Comes To a Republic

AFTER MORE than two years of heroic struggle, the Spanish republic drowns in a welter of its own blood. Who is to blame? The defence council and its chief, General Jose Miaja, "supreme commander of land, sea and air forces of Central Spain," who made himself Premier of Spain by that striking coup d'état? Or the government of Dr. Juan Negrin, who escaped to France after the fall of Barcelona six weeks ago, returned to Madrid, where he tried to take over the command of what was left of Spain's fighting forces, and returned to France a second time when General Miaja announced himself dictator-Premier of Spain?

To me, writes Ludwig Lore of the New York Post, there can be only one answer: When Barcelona fell and Franco's troops marched into Catalonia, the Spanish government buried its last hope; 300,000 of its soldiers had been forced to flee into France, and of these 100,000 decided to return to Franco territory. For all practical purposes the war was at an end.

INSUFFICIENTLY ARMED

True, the loyalists still held Madrid and Valencia, an area comprising about one-fourth of Spain. They also had an army of 400,000 soldiers. But their men were exhausted, underfed and insufficiently armed. They were almost without ammunition. Many of them had not eaten a proper meal in months. There was a brief period of hope when it was reported that Franco would permit the passage of large shipments of arms and war material across her borders from several sympathetic neutral nations. But that hope faded when Chamberlain and Daladier decided that helping the loyalists would merely prolong the war and agreed to give Franco the benefit of the doubt.

AZANA—BARRIO

When Barcelona fell, President Azana, a liberal democrat and an implacable foe of Fascism, urged his government to make peace overtures. He knew that Hitler and Mussolini would never allow Franco to conclude a negotiated peace. He knew that the only peace terms Franco would accept would be a peace without conditions or restrictions.

But he also knew that France and Great Britain were holding warships in readiness to take 10,000 of the leading military and political leaders of Republican Spain to places of safety, to forestall a general massacre of loyalist leaders by the implacable insurgents. Azana was upheld by most of his cabinet, by Diego Martinez Barrio, president of the Cortes (the Spanish parliament) and successor to Azana, by General Jose Miaja, the "hero of Madrid," a soldier of rare gifts and splendid courage, and by most of the leading figures in the army and navy.

Opposed to surrender were a minority in the cabinet—Premier Juan Negrin and Foreign Minister Jules Alvarez del Vago, both known exponents of the Communist opposition.

SOVIET HELP

Before the civil war, the Communist Party in Spain was a weak and unimportant body, but it grew in importance as the war progressed. England, France and the other great democracies had deserted the Spanish government, leaving it to the U.S.S.R. and to Mexico to give what help was needed.

Russia sent airplanes, tanks, machine guns and ammunition and other war materials. Without them the loyalists would never have had even a chance to hold out. Their own ammunition and arms plants were not completed until much later. It is true that Moscow exacted advance payment for every shipment, but that does not alter the fact that the loyalists would have had to surrender in December, 1936, if Russia had not come to their rescue.

The unfortunate result of this situation was that it gave the Communist Party a dominant influence in loyalist affairs. Whether it is true, as has been asserted, that they established a sort of secret police in loyalist territory, for the persecution of their political enemies, I have no way of knowing.

Therefore, Largo Caballero, secretary general of the G.T.U. (Socialist Trade Union Federation), a sincere friend of the Soviets and Premier before Negrin of loyalist Spain, was ousted from the government because he refused to conform. That the G.T.U. was split in the process is merely incidental.

Gen. Miaja enjoyed the good will of the Communist press as the hero of Madrid until he demanded peace negotiations with Franco. From that moment he has been a "renegade and a traitor," a "man afraid of his own shadow."

TOURIST TIPS

To the Editor:—Your editorial article on St. Petersburg, Fla., as an exemplification of successful experimentation in securing comfort and entertainment for the tourist crowds, indicates your excellent judgment. As you so consistently point out, there is undoubtedly a very large need to cater to, and promote an influx of persons, providing, of course, they could be amply assured of several items of essential improvements.

While the local authorities were busying themselves with serious, immediate and adequate attention to the needs of all, in the matter of extended sanitary (public) conveniences, the shortage of which is clearly a menace to good health, as well as a howling stigma in a city of this size. The city should at once construct at least four more, and systematically distribute them inside a one-mile radius from the Post Office.

But there is another matter of extreme importance to which you could have brought much illumination, and that matter looms up under the name of "Personal Safety."

You refer to a part of said visitors as "Oldsters." Quite a large proportion of said "Oldsters" are, in addition to age, also infirm, some by reason of encroaching years, many of them feeble as results of physical deformities, some of which are congenital, and others may be acquired.

If you could spare 15 minutes of your valuable time, any day, and on any thoroughfare, your blood would go cold at some of the hairbreadth escapes that people of all ages, never mind the Oldsters, experience, and chiefly through the recklessness, coupled with unwarranted speeding.

Unless this phase of the traffic problem is handled effectively, promptly and permanently, we need not count upon a very big list of visitors from our provinces, because ill news travels fast and far. No sane person in this community could complain at a woeful depletion of ranks of said visitors, because the big majority of them undertake the visit to Victoria under the erroneous impression that this is yet a haven of rest, health, wonderful climate and scenery, and sane safety.

(MRS.) A. BARTLETT.

OBJECTS TO BAN

To the Editor:—At a recent meeting of the Democratic Book Club of Victoria strong opposition was expressed to the ban which has been placed on the American magazine Ken. As a result it was unanimously agreed to forward the following resolution to the Prime Minister of Canada; our local member in the Federal House; and the Censor at Ottawa.

"Whereas we believe the recent action of the Canadian government in banning the magazine 'Ken' is an infringement on the democratic rights of the people of Canada—including freedom of the press and freedom of expression;

And whereas we believe this will encourage further such action in future;

Therefore be it resolved that we go on record as strongly opposing the ban;

And be it further resolved that we communicate by airmail with magazine Ken is an infringe-

House; the Prime Minister of Canada; and the Censor at Ottawa, urging that in the very near future the ban of this magazine be lifted."

BAD BREATH

The old theory that bad breath arises in the mouth is misleading. Bad breath invariably arises from the stomach. Lyptol Anti-septic cleanses the mouth, and when swallowed, neutralizes fermentative processes in the stomach, the real source of bad breath. Satisfaction or money refunded by all Vancouver Drug Co. Stores—21c, 35c and 74c.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 35 to 40), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells. Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vitality to enjoy life and resist coming jitters nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Weddings

RANDS-THOMAS

At St. Aldan's Church last night, the marriage was quietly solemnized by Rev. T. G. Griffiths of Helen Ray, only daughter of Mrs. Thomas, 1911 Belmont Avenue, and of the late Mr. D. Thomas, and Mr. Stephen Albert Rands, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rands, 2986 Dysart Road.

The bride, given away by her brother, Mr. Clifford Thomas, wore a floor-length frock of pale blue organza with short puff sleeves and a pleated skirt, and a brimless floral hat trimmed with a cyclamen veil. Her corsage bouquet was of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas.

Relatives and a few close friends were entertained later at her home by Mrs. Thomas, where vases of tulips and carnations predominated in the floral decorations. The bride's cake centred the supper table which was decorated with white candles and vases of white narcissi.

Among the numerous gifts were a coffee table, silver flower basket and a case of flat tableware, from the Welsh Society, of which the bride is a member, and a mahogany coffee table from the former associates of the bride on the staff of the Empress Hotel.

BERG-WOOD

PORT ALBERT — Japonica, plum and cherry blossoms in tall standards formed a floral background at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. Wood, Marpole Hill, this morning at 10.30 for the wedding of their fourth daughter, Kathleen Arden, who was united in marriage to Mr. Jack Edwardson Berg. Rev. A. McLean officiated, and the music was supplied by Mrs. Reginald Patterson. Mr. John W. Challenger was groomsmen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of triple sheer georgette in Capri blue, with pleated princess skirt, and on the bodice a deep yoke of miniature pleats. Her brimmed hat of blue had a crown of variegated colored flowers. Her accessories were in portfolio red and she carried a white prayer book tied with posie of white gardenias and white heather.

Miss Mary Wood was her sister's bridesmaid, in Parma violet silk gabardine, with jacquette, the lapels embroidered in a colored floral pattern. She wore a wide-brimmed hat in natural straw and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

At the informal reception that followed the ceremony, Mrs. Wood, mother of the bride, wore a redingote of dove grey, with burgundy-colored buttons and a belt of grey, with a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

White camellias and white tapers decorated the bride's table covered with an Italian lace cloth, and centred with a four-tiered wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Berg left by plane on their wedding trip to Vancouver en route to Washington State, the bride wearing a sheer wool dress with form-fitting coat in beige basket weave wool, with wolf collar. They will later take up residence at Point Grey Road, Vancouver.

National Chapter Sends Out 20,000 Registration Cards

TORONTO (CP)—National headquarters of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire announced yesterday approximately 20,000 cards had been sent throughout the Dominion asking members to register for possible national emergency.

The cards name 13 occupations, including nursing, cooking, knitting, car driving, farm help, stenography and occupational therapy. Members are asked to state their qualifications for each.

Mrs. Dawson Delamere, Toronto, head of publicity for the organization, said registration plans were drawn up by an emergency service committee following its formation early last February by the national executive committee.

Formed because of "the unsettled international situation," the emergency committee is composed of the national president as chairman, the four national vice-presidents and the presidents of each of the provincial chapters of the order.

Death Recalls Old Elopement of Peer's Son

Viscount Forth's Widow Dies In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The romance of a young Scottish nobleman who renounced his claim to an old title for love of a lady's maid in the 1880's had a final chapter yesterday in her death. Eliza Sheldon Harrison Drummond, for whom Viscount Forth, grandson of the 14th Earl of Perth, relinquished security, station and wealth, died at 89 in the house in Brooklyn where she had lived for many years with her daughter, May.

Her death recalled a romance that withstood parental opposition, poverty and illness. The young man, who was in direct line for the earldom, eloped with the lady's maid to Liverpool, and after the marriage they sailed for America. (Burke's Peerage did not acknowledge this marriage, listing the young man as having died unmarried.)

He sold a horse and a few other possessions to pay for their passage. Then came years of precarious living, through which their devotion continued.

HE WAS HANDYMAN

He worked as handyman and she as a servant in the same household. Then he fell ill of tuberculosis. For a while they lived in a "shack" near Brookhaven, N.Y., where the villagers called him "Lord Drummond, the fisherman."

At 31, in 1887, "Lord Drummond, the fisherman," died and was buried in Trinity courtyard under his full name, "George Essex Montifex Drummond, Viscount Forth."

A friend gave the body a place in his family vault. In the years after the elopement, his grandfather, the Earl of Perth, never relented, and refused to send him a penny.

The aged earl outlived his grandson, dying in 1902 at the age of 95 without surviving male issue, and was succeeded by his kinsman, William Huntly Drummond, half brother of the present 16th Earl, who is about to relinquish his post as British Ambassador to Rome.

HAD TWO CHILDREN

There were four mouths to feed when "Lord Drummond" and his wife lived in a hut in the marshes. They had a son and a daughter. They eked out their living by hunting and fishing, and sometimes went hungry.

A few years later they returned to New York. He worked as a salesman and porter for a clothing store, and she as dressmaker.

More hardships came. Their son died, the clothing firm failed, and the Viscount, jobless and ill, went into a decline.

His widow was known by her Brooklyn neighbors of recent years only as "Mrs. Drummond."

The monthly meeting of the Navy League Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held at headquarters Monday evening, Mrs. Aubrey Kent, the regent, in the chair. Donations were voted to secondary education, work in India and isolated families' funds. Mrs. F. X. Russell was elected secretary of the chapter and Mrs. Gordon Smith elected convener of the emergency service committee. A bridge tea will be held by the junior members of the chapter at the home of Mrs. Kent, Douglas Street, on May 17, at 8 p.m. Mrs. H. B. Purdy and Miss Dorothy McKicking were announced as new members of the chapter.

Veteran Actress Is 75 Today

May Robson Proud Of Her Age; Wants To Die In Harness

By FRANKLIN ARTHUR Associated Press Staff Writer HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP)—May Robson, 75, and proud to admit it, looked back today on three-quarters of a century filled with "mighty pleasant memories."

She hopes to be acting when she is 100. But she wants to live no longer than she is able to act; she wants to die in the harness. She proved her durability the past year by making four pictures and a dozen guest appearances, playing 13 weeks in radio and weathering influenza, pneumonia poisoning and extraction of the first teeth she ever lost.

May Robson was born in a suburb of Melbourne, Australia. She came to the United States in her middle teens via France, Belgium and England. At 19 she went on the stage. For 56 years she has been one of the theatre's leading figures.

"I never touch liquor," she said. "But whenever there's part of a rum-soaked old lady to play, they pick me. And, confidentially, I love it."

"I thought Old Egan would Split a Gusset!"

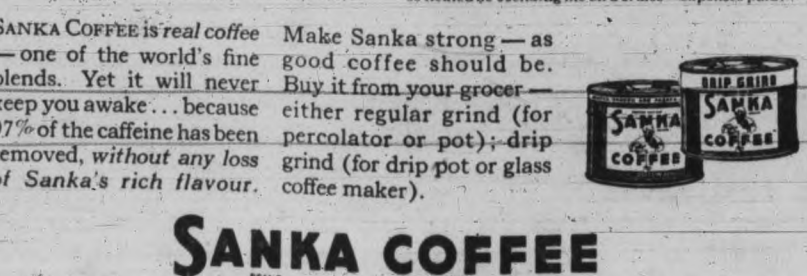

1. H.B.—my Boss—was trying to swing this big lumber deal, hooking up a flock of different companies. It was all set, except for Old Ironsides Egan... the kingpin of the deal, and as testy a guy as I ever took a memo from.

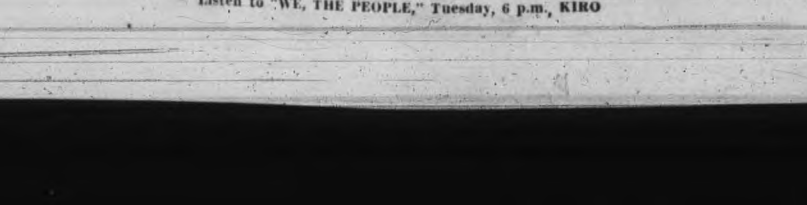

2. The night before the deadline it sure looked hopeless. About eleven p.m., thinking to be helpful, I toddled in with a plate of sandwiches and a pot of coffee. "Perhaps," I murmured, "you gentlemen would like some refreshment."

3. Well, I thought old Egan would split a gusset! "Thunderation!" he bellowed! "Coffee at eleven o'clock? What are you trying to do? Wear me down by keeping me awake all night? Wow! Was I glad I had Sanka Coffee in that pot!"

4. "Mr. Egan," I said sweetly, "this is Sanka Coffee, 97% caffeine-free. If you're one of those that caffeine keeps awake... you can drink Sanka... and sleep! It's delicious coffee, too." He looked skeptical... but after the first cup, he drank two more!

5. Next morning, Old Ironsides looked almost cheerful. "Sleep fine," he said. "Liked that Sanka Coffee, too! Thanks!" After which emotional outburst he went in with the Boss and signed the deal. H.B. was so tickled he's sending me on a cruise—expenses paid!

SANKA COFFEE is real coffee — one of the world's fine blends. Yet it will never keep you awake... because 97% of the caffeine has been removed, without any loss of Sanka's rich flavour.

Make Sanka strong — as good coffee should be. Buy it from your grocer — either regular grind (for percolator or pot); drip grind (for drip pot or glass coffee maker).

IF WILLIAM E. BOEING'S Porter's Mite wins the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs on May 6, he will have to crack a precedent of long standing. This son of The Porter and Minima, by Friar Rock, scored his most notable triumph in the Futurity Stakes at Belmont Park last year, and there's a saying around Kentucky that Futurity winners never get anything in the bluegrass classic. This is substantiated by fact, for no winner of the Belmont race has ever been successful in the Kentucky event, though many of them have tried.

Porter's Mite was acquired by his Seattle owner from the John Hay Whitney stable after he had dropped his first race as a two-year-old. Under the Boeing colors he has won six times while starting in 11 races, three as a three-year-old in California during the past winter. Besides the Futurity Stakes, in which he spent six and one-half furlongs in the world record time of 1:14.2-3, Porter's Mite garnered top honors in the Champagne Stakes, also at Belmont, and the Tanfornan Juvenile Stakes and the Twin Peaks Handicap at Tanfornan. His lone success in three attempts this year came in the Santa Anita Stakes on January 7.

Following the latter race, prestige of the Boeing horse took two sharp tumbles as the result of the trouncing he took behind Impound, and Our Mat in Santa Anita. Santa Vinciente Handicap, and another mediocre showing in the Santa Anita Derby, in which he was led home by Clencia, Xalapa Clow and Impound.

Two other stakes last year saw him finish second to Allegro in the Moslem Temple Stakes at Detroit and fourth to El Chico, Volitant and Johnstown in the Junior Champion Stakes at Aqueduct. Porter's Mite is in Maryland pointing for the Chesapeake Stakes at Havre de Grace under the tutelage of Fred Horning, and in that race, and also the Derby, will be piloted by Johnny Adams, crack western rider. His earnings as a two-year-old totaled $66,940, of which $57,045 represented his winner's end of the Belmont Futurity. So far this year he has accounted for $13,000. He is not particular about track conditions.

Another major league baseball season is under way. From now until late in September the 16 clubs in the American and National Leagues will be battling for championships and the pot of gold that goes with the world series. With the New York Yankees still doing business in the same old manner at the same old stand, Joe McCarthy is expected to break another of the existing records by winning his fourth consecutive pennant. The Yankees are confident that Lou Gehrig will make a comeback after a bad season last year, which saw him slip under the 300 mark with a 286 for the first time since he hit 295 in 1925 as Wally Pipp's successor in 73 ball games.

It does not look like any team can stop the Yankees, but if their number is up, the Boston Red Sox is the club that will turn the trick. Just how good the Sox are this year will depend upon how good are rookies Ted Williams and Jim Tabor in their first year as regulars in the big show.

In back of Boston in the American League there does not appear to be anything that can challenge the Yankees. Cleveland is a club made up of ball players who have caused other managers to turn prematurely grey. If Oscar Vitt can weld a winning unit from such recalcitrants as Johnny Allen, Johnny Broaca, Ben Chapman et al, he will have accomplished the modern baseball miracle.

The Chicago White Sox are weak in too many spots. Detroit Tigers are weak in the outfield. The Washington Senators are still experimenting with young ball players and this does not appear to be their year. The St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics will be lucky to finish in the league, let alone challenge the Yankees.

Once again the National race appears to be wide open, with the Chicago Cubs, New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds battling right down to the wire. Bill McKechnie has a balanced ball club, and with Bill Werber to lead the gap at third base the Reds

Eastern Canada Basketball Champs Will Arrive In Victoria Saturday

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor Alumni, eastern Canadian senior men's basketball champions, prepared today to travel to Victoria for the Dominion championship series against the feared Victoria Dominions, winners of the western title. They will arrive in the British Columbia capital Saturday morning.

Windsor officials rated their original squad as equal to any Windsor team that has competed in seven Canadian finals in 12 years, winning two titles, but admitted frankly they could not determine how much the loss of Capt. Red Wiseman would reduce the team's effectiveness.

Wiseman fractured his arm in the first three minutes of play in the final game of the eastern Canadian title series against Montreal Dominion Douglas.

SERIOUS BLOW

"Windsor has the strongest sub line I've ever seen in Windsor," Coach Bill Butcher said. "The loss of Wiseman was a serious blow to our chances."

Likely starting line-up, Butcher said, will be Ian Allison, Glen Sherman, Jim Stewart, Tom Pendelbury and Red Naffais. Pendelbury will be subbing for Wiseman. Stewart likely will be playing a lot as guard, instead of his usual role as forward. George Weiss and Jack Blair will play a lot.

Alumni left Detroit late this afternoon for Chicago en route to Seattle, and then north to Victoria. Returning, the Alumni will go through the Canadian Rockies and on to Moose Jaw, Sask., and then to Chicago and home.

DATES CHANGED

VANCOUVER (CP)—A change in the dates for the best-of-five Canadian basketball championship series at Victoria between Windsor Alumni and Victoria Dominions, which will end the playoffs a day earlier, was announced yesterday by Jack McLaughlin, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association.

McLaughlin said the first two games would be held April 22 and 24, as previously announced, but the third game will be played April 25 instead of April 26. The fourth and fifth game, if necessary, will be held April 27 and 28 instead of April 28 and 29.

BROADCAST GAMES

Johnny Johnson, president of the Dominions, announced today the Canadian final games will be broadcast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

In order that eastern Canada fans can listen to the games the starting times will be changed. Saturday night's clash will start at 9, but the remaining games next week will be called for 8:30.

BASEBALL MEETING

The Victoria Baseball Association will hold an important meeting in the Colonist boardroom tomorrow night at 8. Second division entries will close and plans made for the season. All clubs are asked to have representatives present.

Blake, Smith Honored

Members of Canadiens and New York Rangers Awarded Hockey Trophies

MONTREAL (CP)—Hockey's highest individual award, the Dr. David A. Hart memorial trophy, was bestowed yesterday on Hector (Toe) Blake, a 25-year-old speedster from the mining country who kept Montreal Canadiens in the National League running most of the season just past.

The league president, Frank Calder, announced designation of Blake as the player most valuable to his team in 1933-34. Few will oppose the choice of hurling Hector by hockey writers, for he led the league in point-making and despite the fact Canadiens were in the cellar most of the winter and finished sixth in the standing.

Simultaneously, the president announced selection of Clint (Snuffy) Smith of New York Rangers as winner of the Lady Byng trophy, presented annually to the player who, in the writers' opinion, "combines the highest standard of sportsmanship with outstanding ability." With only two minutes in penalties against him, the 160-pound centerman from Saskatoon finished fourth in the point-making totals although his line was broken up for long periods by injuries to his wingmen, Lynn Patrick and Cecil Drillon.

GREAT PLAYMAKER

Blake, in his fourth season in the big time, put together 24 goals and 23 assists for a total of 47 scoring points. Even when things looked darkest for the Canadiens, he was driving in from left wing to make pretty plays with Paul Haynes and Johnny Gagnon. His value was accentuated by his willingness to backcheck.

Born at Victoria Mines, Ont., Blake gained his first hockey prominence at nearby Kirkland Lake. Smith, the league's greatest adduct of the newspaper comic sections, is as quiet off the ice as on. Born 24 years ago at Assiniboia, Sask., he moved at an early age to Saskatoon and played junior hockey there until, like so many other western youngsters, he was summoned to Lester Patrick's Ranger school at Winnipeg. After playing with Vancouver Lions in the Pacific Coast League, he spent a short period with the Rangers two seasons ago and was called in for the full campaign last winter.

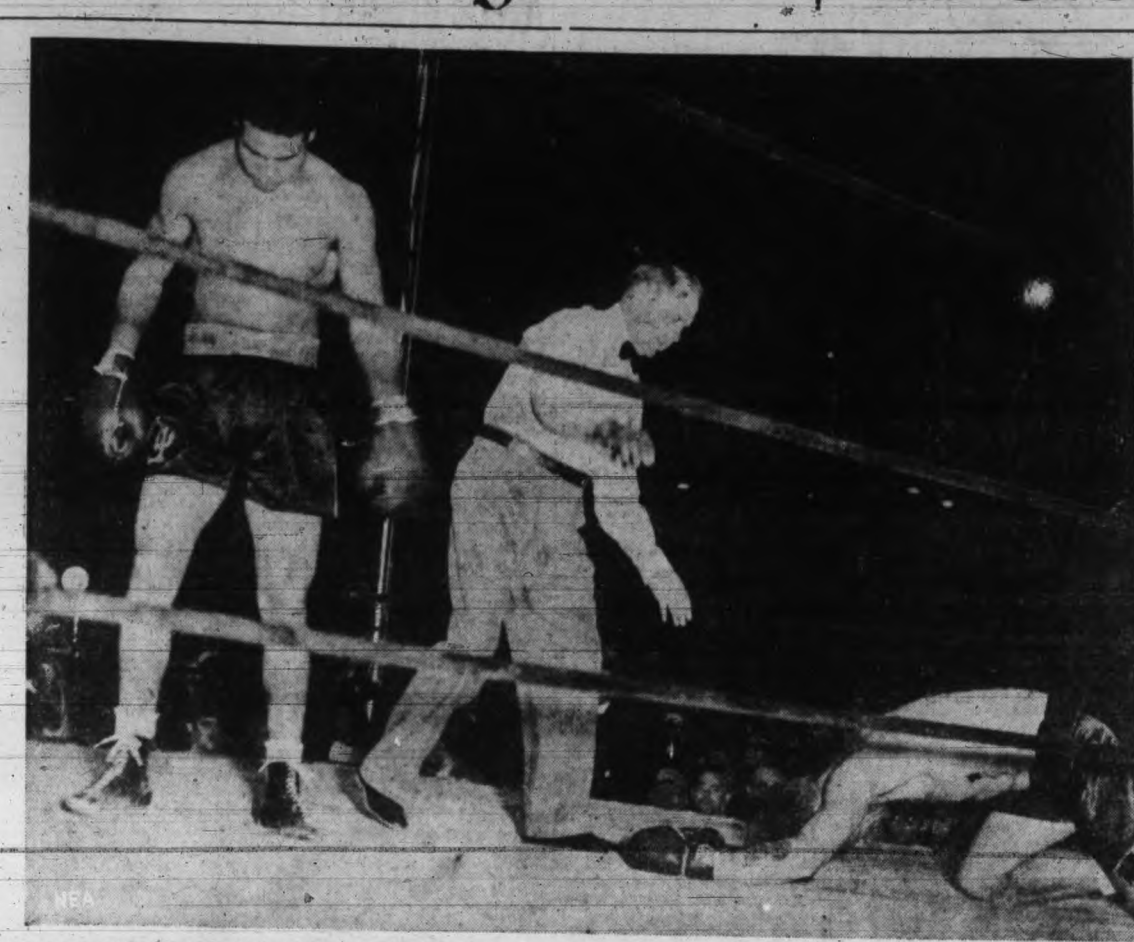

Blake, who succeeded Boston's Eddie Shore to the Hart trophy, beat out Syl Apps of Toronto and Johnny Gottselig of Chicago, high-scoring forwards who were second and third in the voting respectively.

Smith won the cup held last season by Gordon Drillon of Toronto, who topped the league in scoring in 1932-33 but was out of action for six weeks this winter with a broken thumb. Second and third behind Smith were Marty Barry of Detroit, who won the trophy two years ago, and Apps.

Giants Open Well

Zeke Bonura's Home Run Leads New York To Baseball Win Over Brooklyn

You can't blame an American Leaguer for turning up at a National League baseball park for a season opener these days. The way things are going, with pretty nearly every team in the senior circuit sporting at least one ex-American Leaguer, the National is getting to be somewhat of an "old men's home" for fellows who once drew pay in the younger loop.

Of the three National League games to get by the leaky skies so far, a drafted American Leaguer has been the main cog on the winning side in each case. Of course, the club owners didn't care too much about this. They looked over the box office and had too much fun discovering 118,923 cash customers turned out for the four games Monday and Tuesday, topped by the 47,000 who saw the Tigers wallop Chicago White Sox 6 to 1 in Detroit yesterday.

On Monday it was Heinie Manush whose sharp grounder sent the run across for Pittsburgh which tied the Reds in the eighth, from where the Pirates went on to win. And Heinie came from the American League.

OVER 25,000 ATTEND

Then there were terrible Bill Terry's Giants yesterday, getting little encouragement from their arch-enemies, the Dodgers, through the first two innings before 25,496 damp fans in Brooklyn.

In the third, however, that playboy late of the American League, Zeke Bonura, came to bat with two on and two out, and parked one of Rookie Russ Evans' special slants in the left field stands for three runs and the spark that sent the Giants to a 7 to 3 decision. All this from Zeke whom such lowly American League outfits as Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators gave up on.

And St. Louis' mysterious Cardinals, the outfit nobody knows, nipped the Pirates 3 to 2. There was no news in the fact Duke Medwick's single shoved over two runs. But the score summary shows, "Winning Pitcher—Weiland." This is the same Lefty Bob who had addresses in half the American League's cities before the National League adopted him. Bob has won 31 games for the Cards in the last two years and did a right fair job yesterday until he gave way to a pinch-hitter.

In the only American League game Tommy Bridges joyfully celebrated the start of his 10th season with the Tigers with some classy right-hand elbowing. He handcuffed the Sox with seven hits, fanned five and didn't walk a man.

Short scores follow:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
At Detroit—	R.H.E.
Chicago—	1 7 1
Detroit—	6 12 0

Bostolli Winner City and Suburban

EPSOM, Eng. (CP)—Mrs. Lionel Corbett's Bostolli, a colt by Singapore from Bella Minna, today won the City and Suburban Handicap at 14 miles, 15 yards.

The four-year-old beat Major H. T. Barclay's Mormond Hill by five lengths, with Marcel Bousac's Taran, trained by Steve Donoghue, third in the field of 14, half a length behind Mormond Hill.

Bostolli started at 100 to 8, Mormond Hill at 11 to 2 and Taran at 9 to 1.

Sportsmen Seek Late Duck Season

Local Hunters Recommend Water Fowl Season From Dec. 15 to Feb. 28

Victoria sportsmen last night expressed their pleasure regarding dates for duck deer and migratory bird seasons this year, when members of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association gathered in the English Bakery Hall to discuss the seasons and air other matters pertaining to their favorite sports.

The only drastic change recommended by the local nimrods was in the matter of ducks, Wilson snipe and coots. They suggested the season open on December 15 and close February 28, regarded as the best months for water fowl shooting. Last year the season opened—November 15 and closed January 14.

All recommendations made at last night's parley will be presented at the Affiliated Fish and Game Associations of Vancouver Island's meeting on April 26 in Nanaimo by the association delegates. President George Beck, Secretary Jack King, Joe Jewkes and Ray Meldrum for approval. The recommendations from the up-island session will be forwarded to the Game Department for final judgment.

SAME DEER SEASON

Members were in favor of the buck deer shooting season remaining the same as last year, opening September 16 and closing November 30, but they voted down Albern's suggestion that only fork bucks be made legal game.

Their recommendation for the brant and geese seasons was that they open January 1 and close February 28. They wanted September 16 to September 30 for bantailed pigeons.

No changes in bag limits were requested and members thought the present shooting hours in effect were satisfactory. They were not in favor of feeding or baiting ducks, or use of live decoys.

A motion advanced by Joe Jewkes that steps be taken to make catching of fish under 10 inches illegal in all Vancouver Island nontidal waters, won a close vote. The present legal-sized fish is eight inches. Jewkes argued that eight-inch fish were too small and suggested that they be left to grow to a size whereby they would be worth while catching.

WANT LIMIT EXTENSION

The meeting favored extension of the limit catch period on salmon and grise another two months. At the present time there are limits on these two salt water species from January 1 to May 31. The association wants the limit ruling to be carried on to the end of July.

A circular from the Game Department asking the endorsement of the association on the matter of elimination of shooting on or over traveled highways in areas directly outside municipalities did not meet with the approval of the members, as it had not been specified what a "traveled" highway was. Some members pointed out that any road or highway no matter how infrequently used could be labeled "traveled" highway and did not feel they should go off the deep end.

Les Entwistle, chairman of entertainment, was asked to arrange a showing of motion pictures on wild life and other pictures of interest to the sporting public.

MYERS RECOVERED

CINCINNATI (AP)—Billy Myers, Cincinnati Reds shortstop who suffered head injuries when struck by a thrown ball in Monday's opening game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, will return to his team by the weekend, his physician said yesterday.

New Haven, Conn.—George Flier, 178, New Haven, outpointed Buddy Knox, 189, Dayton, O. (10).

Will Clash Saturday For Cup

Two Evenly-matched Clubs Meet at Glasgow; Neither Has Held Trophy

GLASGOW (CP)—The Scottish Cup will rest in unfamiliar quarters this year for the second year in succession. East Fife last season broke the stranglehold of Celtic and Rangers and the famous Glasgow soccer clubs, winners 25 times in the 64-year-old competition, again hold only watching briefs as finalists prepare for the closing struggle Saturday.

Clyde and Motherwell, current major-league protagonists, have never been successful in the tournament. Last year East Fife became the first second division team ever to win the silverware.

Worthy contenders for cup honors, the finalists each have form-smashing victories to their credit in the earlier rounds. Clyde's 4 to 1 triumph over Rangers at Ibrox Park in the third round stands out as the highlight of the competition and the Fir Parkers blanked Celtic 3 to 0 to win a place in the semi-finals.

Victory over Glasgow's green-shirted idols came as sweet revenge for Motherwell. Twice before—in 1931 and 1933—the squad reached the final only to fall before the Celts by score of 4 to 2 and 1 to 0. In 1931 Celtic triumphed at the second attempt, the first encounter ending in a 2 to 2 draw.

Welcome return to form has been shown by Clyde this season and for a time early in the campaign the Shawfield Park eleven set the pace in league competition. Three times in recent years Clyde has been eliminated in the cup after reaching semifinal status. In 1933 Motherwell brought about the Glasgow team's downfall, winning 2 to 0 at Ibrox Park. Three years later Rangers administered a 3 to 0 defeat and the following year a 2 to 0 verdict went in Celtic's favor.

PUNCH IN ATTACK

Acquisition of W. Martin, clever Queen's Park amateur forward, provided the spark for Clyde's attack. He played a hero's role against Rangers in the third round, ramming home the four goals that put the Light Blues out of the competition. Martin also netted the "million-dollar" goal against Hibernians in a rousing semifinal contest.

In the opening round Clyde eliminated St. Johnston 2 to 0, but two games were necessary before Dundee was ousted 1 to 0 in the second stage. The first battle ended in a scoreless draw. Thirda Lanark bowed 1 to 0 to the Shawfield Park outfit in the fourth round.

Critics who favor Clyde's chances point to a grand defence that has been pierced on only one occasion in six cup contests. On the other hand Motherwell boasts a strong forward line credited with 24 goals in a similar number of cup ties with six goals chalked up on the opposite side of the ledger.

A. Mathie, a newcomer at centre-forward, is flanked by the veteran G. Stevenson and T. H. Bremner, the trio forming the centre of a formidable attack. Stevenson is a great schemer, and in recent matches has captured all his old poise and elusiveness.

Following an 8 to 1 walkover against Huntley in the opening round of the cup this year, Motherwell triumphed 5 to 1 over Dundee United of the second division, and then disposed of St. Mirren 4 to 2. The victory over Celtic followed and Aberdeen fell in the semifinal 3 to 1 at the second attempt. Motherwell came from behind to tie 1 to 1 in the first encounter, the equalizing goal resulting from a bad blunder by S. Nicholson, one of the Dons' defenders.

Harold M. Diggon Returns From Motor Trip To Southern States; Saw Fine Scenery

Harold M. Diggon of Diggon-Zibben Limited has just returned from a 6,000-mile motor trip to the southern states. He brought back a nice sun-tan and some interesting impressions of cities he visited.

Reno, Nevada, mecca of seekers after divorce is, by virtue of its unique civic government, known as "The Biggest Little City in the World." Mr. Diggon said. It is a "wide-open" town, with roulette, baccarat, poker, vingt-et-un and keno, the latter strangely reminiscent of the old-time "chuck-a-luck," played.

"Every few yards along the streets are drinking and gambling places," he said. "Gargantuan crowds are called and alluringly attractive, these clubs operate practically day and night. It is noteworthy that during our stay in Reno we saw nothing that might be termed disorderly, nor did we witness any unpleasant episode, either within the clubs or without. Ladies, we noticed, participated freely in the games. Mostly they were without escort and were not molested or annoyed by anyone."

"Lawyers and attorneys are much in evidence, and doubtless derive a comfortable livelihood from the business the divorce market offers. Some time ago Reno amended its divorce regulations, making a residence of several weeks in the city compulsory on the part of the applicants. This has proved to be good for the Reno hotels and business generally."

MILK FROZEN

"Our next objective was Las Vegas, which we reached after having motored through territory of surpassing interest. The distance between Reno and Las Vegas, which lies at the southern tip of Nevada, is 520 miles. The route takes one over the high Sierras at altitudes of from 5,000 to 7,000 feet, in some places through deep snow and freezing temperatures. At one hostelry which we visited milk was frozen in the bottles. The country is mainly of the mountain desert type, although at times here are stretches of beautiful forest glades."

"At an altitude of 3,390 feet we stopped to explore the famous 'Death Valley.' We visited the old ghost mining towns, Tonopah and Goldfield, made familiar to radio listeners through the thrilling anecdotes of the 'Old Ranger.' It is not so long ago you could wander into one of the abandoned mining camps, load a car or truck with costly furniture and other trophies and depart without hindrance. Not so now. Modern methods and machinery are making profitable the working of abandoned mines and mill dumps, and the 'ghost towns' are being repopulated by scientifically-minded miners and prospectors. The huge mounds of 'tailings' accumulated during the early days are, under modern methods, assaying from $5 up."

"Death Valley boasts the greatest contrasts to be found in North America. Precipitous mountains and majestic canyons overlook flat, barren valleys. Contrasts in elevations from 280 feet below sea level to, at one point, 11,045 above, present the greatest abrupt rise from base to tip to be found in the United States. There are startling contrasts in chemical and mineral formations, in scenery, coloring and in temperature. There are rocks of practically every division of geological time. Fossils and footprints of prehistoric animals and birds abound."

"Boulder City lies a few miles southeast of Las Vegas, which stands at an elevation of 2,500 feet. From Boulder City we proceeded to the famous Boulder Dam, six miles distant and at an elevation of 1,232 feet. Boulder Dam is one of the world's wonders. Words cannot describe its immensity or its overpowering appeal to the imagination."

GRAPEFRUIT CHEAP

"Phoenix, Arizona, was reached after traversing miles of typical desert country. Phoenix, which reminds one of the typical prairie city, owes its rise and present importance to irrigation. Rich soil formerly useless through lack of moisture now produces almost fabulous crops, over 240,000 acres being supplied with an ample supply of water for irrigation from the Roosevelt Dam. The district is well and favorably known as one of the citrus-growing localities because of the superior quality, especially, of its grapefruit. While we were there, fresh large grapefruit were selling at 10 cents a dozen."

"From Phoenix one is urged to travel on to Tucson, a quaint city with an old Mexican atmosphere, and with ancient mud and adobe dwellings."

"It is well worth noting here the many features that impressed us while motoring through the desert country. There was the marvelous coloring of both the desert itself and the mountains. It was one long panorama of changing color showing the most wonderful tints, almost extra-terrestrial in their loveliness. Then there were the sunsets. Mere words fail to describe them. They were short-lived but glorious. There are volcanic rocks, weird chasms and petrified wood, the latter cleverly fashioned by the people into rings and other ornaments because of their rich colorings and facilities to take a high polish."

"This desert country contains one particularly remarkable phenomenon. Many years ago, when the mines were being operated, the miners threw their discarded bottles into the desert. Through the agency no doubt of the blistering heat of the desert sun the clear glass of these bottles has been changed to colors ranging from a delicate mauve to deep rich purple. Souvenir hunters and residents find it an interesting hobby to comb the desert sands in search of these bottles. It is on record that one collector paid $500 for one, an old cruet, probably of English make."

"On to Yuma, a city at the junction of the states of California and Arizona and the Mexican border. Then to San Diego."

A BULLFIGHT

"We broke our rest once or twice when we essayed to cross the border into Mexico to Tia Juana, then Ensenada. While in Tia Juana we attended a bullfight. It was our first experience of this disgusting form of entertainment—and our last. For never again shall we voluntarily witness such a cruel, inhuman and diabolical spectacle. What amazed us was the relatively large number of women present. A considerable percentage were American, or perhaps Canadian, but the majority were Mexican."

"It is noteworthy, and a fact perhaps not generally known that Tia Juana is a free port. Consequently Americans may buy things such as French perfumes, British woollens, clothing, leather goods, Hudson's Bay blankets, Swiss watches, European cameras, wines and liquors, at prices far lower than obtained within the confines of the United States."

"Leaving San Diego, we started on the homeward journey, passing Elsinore Lake and, over a high elevation through the Cleveland National Park to San Juan Capistrano Mission, one of California's finest. Its mellowed architecture is exceedingly beautiful and its age-old gardens are loaded with color at all times. Thousands of swallows who make this their summer home, leave each October 23 and return punctually on March 19. This routine they have followed for 60 years, to the utter bewilderment of scientists."

"Journeying on towards Fresno we were struck by the variety of fruit culture which characterizes this part of California. Traveling through the famous San Joaquin Valley, we would pass through citrus groves. The oranges would give way to almonds, then to walnuts, next to avocados and perhaps to dates, and of course, grapes. It would seem that either climatic or soil conditions had something to do with this phenomenon."

"Arriving at Oakland, we of course crossed to San Francisco to take in the exposition."

"One could spend days visiting the many interesting exhibits. To us one of the many attractions was the marvelous system of night illumination. Neon lighting, flood lighting, illuminated fountains, all combined to present a spectacular display not easily forgotten."

"Most remarkable were the marvelous scientific developments exemplified—such things as artificial glass and rubber. There is the telephone company's wonderful invention for the production of synthetic speech, and a robot that smokes, winks its eyes and sits or stands on command."

PRaises B.C. EXHIBIT

"Our first visit was to British Columbia's exhibit. It was with some difficulty that we located our provincial display, as it is, for some unaccountable reason, not mentioned in the index to the guide map issued by the Auto Club of Southern California. It is included under the heading 'Western States Building.' This is unfortunate and distinctly misleading."

"The B.C. government is to be warmly complimented on their display. The two fine-looking members of the Provincial Police Force, with their distinctive uniforms and soldierly bearing were objects of much admiration. Not the least pleasing feature of the British Columbia exhibit was the courtesy displayed by those in charge of their willingness to render assistance and give information."

"Good meals at reasonable rates can be had at any of the restaurants on Treasure Island. There is an excellent system of parking for the cars of patrons. Accommodation for about 16,000 cars, planned in convenient arrangement with well-marked streets and guards to direct."

"Wheel sedans similar to those seen at the Riviera, in Florida and at Atlantic City seemed to be well patronized."

"Treasure Island, being almost on the water level, is cool, especially at night, and necessitates the wearing of warm clothing. It was here we had our first experience of seeing television in actual operation. We had the pleasure of standing before the television camera and talking to the sightseers in another part of the large building, who could see our image on the screens of the numerous radios there on exhibition. We were informed, by the way, that as soon as television comes into practical use it will not be necessary for one to scrap one's present radio. All that is necessary is the installation of the television attachment."

"With the exception of Coronado, all stops were made at auto courts. With the aid of the booklets provided by the automobile club and the Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau, we had no difficulty in securing the best accommodation. The best auto courts were, we found, those between Portland and the Mexican border."

"Having during our lengthy tour, passed through several cities, large and small, we were naturally interested in the local traffic regulations obtaining in those we visited. Without in the least intending to be critical, or even to suggest, we wonder whether our local traffic authorities have considered the inauguration of a 'no left turn' rule at certain intersections where pedestrian traffic is heavy."

"With regard to parking meters, we were informed that in Portland, where they have been in use for over two years, the receipts have already covered their cost of installation, and they are now forming a considerable source of revenue to the city. They are popular, especially with people on shopping bent, as one has now no difficulty in finding a parking place, costing only 5 cents an hour, in close proximity to the stores they wish to visit."

DRAWING OF WILL TOLD CREDIT MEN

Advantages of dealing with a trust company as executor of a person's estate were given the Credit Granters' Association at luncheon in Spencer's dining room yesterday by S. P. D. Clark and R. W. Phipps.

The address took the form of a dialogue, during which Mr. Clark explained and answered questions of Mr. Phipps dealing with the drawing up of a will.

In British Columbia, Mr. Clark explained when a man died, his wife and family received his estate in equal shares. If there were two children in addition to the widow, then each would receive one-third.

In order that the widow might use part of the children's share for their good, she had to be bonded—that was when the children were minors. This entailed a great deal of expense and trouble, Mr. Clark said.

He then enumerated various other advantages of dealing with a trust company, saying that a family and wife would be looked after much better by a trust company than by some friend executor.

L. Cox president, was in the chair during the meeting. The speakers were introduced by O. M. Prentice.

Urges Care of Arctic Frontier

W. E. Gilbert Tells Kiwanis of Closeness To Europe

Canada might well give major consideration to the unfortified border of the Canadian Arctic, which "looks into the back yards of Europe's dictators" and which offers every facility for the establishing of air bases, said Walter E. Gilbert, B.C. superintendent of the Canadian Airways, in an address entitled "Pushing Back the Horizon," at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Gilbert pointed out Canada's Arctic frontier was only 2,500 miles from northern central Europe, which in these days of aerial development was not a long distance. Such trips were made regularly across Canada and from San Francisco to Honolulu, he said.

To illustrate the type of land in the Arctic region owned by Canada, Mr. Gilbert showed a moving picture of the expedition which he piloted for the Canadian government in 1930 to investigate Eskimo rumors that the grave of Sir John Franklin, Arctic explorer lost in 1848, had been found on King William Island. There were numerous landlocked bays and level stretches of land which would make ideal bases for aerial and naval craft, he pointed out.

Mr. Gilbert was introduced by Fred McGregor and Darrel Spence expressed the club's thanks to him.

Regional Committee To Elect Chairman

A general meeting for those interested in amateur drama in British Columbia will be held at the club rooms of the Victoria Little Theatre, 1249 Rockland Avenue, on Saturday evening at 8.15. The meeting is called "to pass the accounts of the B.C. Regional of the Dominion Drama Festival," and "to elect a chairman for the B.C. Regional of the Dominion Drama Festival, and other business."

Nominations for the office of chairman must imply that the nominee has given his or her consent to be nominated and is willing to serve. Judge C. J. Lennox, of Vancouver, Governor of the Dominion Drama Festival will preside during the election of a chairman. Groups that have competed in the elimination and regional contests of the Dominion Drama Festival in British Columbia have been particularly requested to send representatives.

Marks 25 Years In Priesthood

Solemn high mass at 9.30 this morning, at which a special sermon was preached by Most Rev. John C. Cody, Bishop of Victoria, today commemorated the 25th anniversary of the ordination to priesthood of Rev. Father J. R. Buckley of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, the Willows.

At noon clergy of the diocese paid their tribute to Father Buckley at a luncheon in the Bishop's House, View Street, where Father A. B. Wood of Esquimalt spoke and made a presentation to Father Buckley. This evening at 6 the clergy will attend a dinner in St. Joseph's Hospital and solemn benediction will be celebrated in the chapel of St. Ann's Academy at 7.30.

Father Buckley was ordained on April 19, 1914, in Holy Heart Seminary, Halifax. He came to Victoria in 1916 and for three years was secretary to Bishop Alex Macdonald before he went to Our Lady of Lourdes.

TO INCREASE AIR SERVICE

Three Trips Between Vancouver and Victoria Considered Probable

Probability of the Victoria-Vancouver air mail and passenger service being increased to three trips each way on May 1 was indicated yesterday by Walter E. Gilbert, British Columbia superintendent of Canadian Airways, who was speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel. At present there are two trips daily.

Mr. Gilbert said the increased service would be conditional upon the maintenance of present rate of travel, which he said was unusually heavy.

He said Victoria's support of the airmail and passenger service inaugurated by Canadian Airways had been splendid. Two thirds of the gross passenger traffic from the west came out of Victoria, while the mail and freight shipped by air mail was beyond all proportion to this city's size in comparison with Vancouver.

It was his company's aim to make the gulf trip one of the most comfortable and efficient services in Canada if this support continued, Mr. Gilbert said.

PREPARING FOR EARLY FIRE SEASON

Warm Weather Keeps Forest Branch Alert For Outbreaks

Preparations for an early forest fire season were being made by the B.C. forest service today following the warm weather of the last few days.

While no large outbreaks have been reported so far, a clearing fire in the Sooke area, which sent up a big volume of smoke, caused one call to the branch. It is under control.

Officially the fire season opens on May 1, after which all clearing and slash fires are subject to special permit.

Meanwhile the forest branch began to enroll the first of some 300 temporary summer employees who will be engaged in fighting fires. This force will be expanded as conditions become worse.

Under its new arrangement for equipment with the logging industry, the forest service this year will wage one of the keenest campaigns against fire that it has ever attempted, in an effort to keep losses at the lowest possible point.

CENTENNIAL Y.P.S.

4 Facts You Should Know about Vitamins and Fresh Yeast

Read why the New High-Vitamin Yeast gives more complete results than vitamins alone... how the "booster action" of the yeast itself can help the body use the vitamins you eat more fully

EXTRA VITAMINS—more than you get in many ordinary meals—are needed by great numbers of people, studies indicate.

If you have severe colds that "hang on," you likely need more Vitamin A.

If you are nervous and have poor digestion, it often shows more "Nerve" Vitamin B is needed.

Plenty of Vitamin D is needed for the body's proper use of the calcium and phosphorus in your food—an essential for sound bones and teeth.

Tiring easily, lack of pep may show you need more "Vitality" Vitamin G.

2 SLOW DIGESTION may affect you—like many others—and may cut down the body's assimilation of vitamins eaten. If this is not stimulated you may fail to get as much good from the vitamins you eat as you should.

3 THE NEW HIGH-VITAMIN YEAST helps to stimulate slow digestion, increase the flow of digestive juices in the stomach. This better digestion can help you make fuller use of the vitamins eaten. It "boosts" their assimilation.

4 TWO BENEFITS are offered by Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast. It gives rich amounts of 4 vitamins—A, B, D and G, plus the "booster action" of fresh yeast. By stimulating slow digestion, it gives more complete results than vitamins alone.

Don't fail to get the full good from vitamins you eat. Get your extra vitamins this effective way—in Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast. Start eating it regularly—today!

2 cakes a day of Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast give you:

VITAMIN A—6200 Units (Int.)
VITAMIN B— 300 Units (Int.)
VITAMIN D— 800 Units (Int.)
VITAMIN G— 150 Units (Sh. Bour.)

All the average person needs (in addition to his meals) of A, B and D—and a rich supply of the Vitality Vitamin G. Eat one cake about ½ hour before breakfast or lunch and one cake ½ hour before supper—plain or in a little water or milk.

Bach Playing Praised

Standard High, Says Arthur Benjamin.
At Morning Festival Session

The standard of Bach playing in the Victoria Musical Festival was praised this morning by Arthur Benjamin in his adjudication on the open Bach piano class, won by Lois Hamblett with a mark of 84.

He said all the eight entrants had been "playing Bach as Bach is being played nowadays thanks to Harold Samuel, who adjudicated the instrumental classes of the Victoria festival three years ago and died a few months later, and others, like him—although there are no others quite like him—something human and beautiful."

Marjorie Lea was runner-up with 82 marks.

Miss Hamblett's playing of the prelude and fugue in C minor was commended for its rhythm, tonal gradations and general style. Mr. Benjamin's only criticism was of the speed.

Miss Hamblett will play at tonight's festival concert in First United Church.

Marjorie Lea was winner of the intermediate piano solo class with a mark of 170 and Wallace Stabbert placed second with 168. Mr. Benjamin praised Miss Lea's good part-playing, expressive performance and nice feeling and tone.

First place in the intermediate piano duet class went to Dorothy Craig and Marie Vowles with 86.83-369. Adele Dunsmore and Mary Foster were runners-up with 82.81-163. Mr. Benjamin said the winners' performance was well shaped and balanced, with excellent teamwork.

In his general comment on the class he said: "I never cease to wonder at the carelessness in speed seen in musical festivals." He urged players to "give your self time to point out things."

While Mr. Benjamin was adjudicating the piano classes in First Baptist Church, seven solo and group vocal classes were under way in First United Church, two elocution classes were being heard in First Baptist lower hall, and 73 junior vocal soloists in four classes were being judged in First United schoolroom.

WINS SOPRANO CLASS

Lauretta McCall was rated first in the grade B soprano solo class with a mark of 86. Elaine Basanta was second with 84.

In his adjudication George Dods commended Miss McCall's phrasing and dainty sense of the song she chose for her test piece, "There's Not a Swain" by Purcell. "She's a very good girl," he remarked.

Audrey Elliott and Audrey Mills took first place with 86 marks in the class for vocal solos by girls or boys between 16 and 19 accompanied by pianists of the same age group. Clemency Ord and Phyllis Hick were second with 84.

Clemency Ord and Dorothy Davies were winners of the girls, boys, or mixed trio class for the 16 to 19 years age group with 85 marks. Jean Adams and Veronica Cleeri placed second with 84.

Loyola Edwards, Mary Martin and Holly Greer carried off the Hollywood Ladies' Musical Club Challenge Cup for trios under 16 years. The cup was held last year by Miss Edwards, Mary Armitage and Elaine Basanta. The winners' mark was 82. The only other trio competing, Dorothy Cross, John Kirchner and William Goodwin, received 79 marks.

There was only one entry in the corresponding class for the 16 to 19 year age group, Hazel Jackson, Dorothy Davies and Clemency Ord, who were awarded 83 marks.

The class for vocal duet, female voices, was won by Nedra Garff and Maurine Wade with 83 marks. Thyrta and Thelma Gaetz were second with 82. Mr. Dods commented the winners chose a more difficult test piece and gave a very good performance on the whole.

Veronica Cleeri, Dorothy Thorn, Mary Armitage and Dorcas Muir were placed first in the quartette class, 16 to 19 years, with 81 marks. Clemency Ord, Hazel Jackson, Dorcas Jackson and Dorothy Davies were second with 80. Mr. Dods commented the winners had better teamwork, both quartettes being of equal standard in other respects.

Maturity and quality of voice was noted by Dr. Frederic Staiton in the singing of young Emily Middleton, who carried off first place in a class of 36 girl vocal soloists under 13 years with a mark of 87. Margaret June Short was second with 86 and Audrey Townsend and Mary Rogers tied for third place with 85.

Dr. Staiton called many of the competitors to the platform and went over points in the test piece—Dunhill's "The Silver Buckle"—with them.

Keith Littleton won high praise and a mark of 88 in the boys' under 12 vocal solo class. Stephen Michaud was second with 87.

Ninon Huston of Ladysmith won first place in the vocal solo class for girls between 13 and 16 with a mark of 87. Adele Dunsmore, Nalinna, and Elaine Hartie tied for second place with 86 marks. The winner was praised by Dr. Staiton for her charming voice, clear diction and perfect tone.

The fourth children's vocal solo class, that for boys over 11, was still being judged at 1 o'clock.

Bruce Madeley placed first in the primary elocution class for boys under 10 with 88 marks, and was commended by Mrs. J. Ferguson for his good breath control and rhythm and fine imagination. Keith Littleton placed second with 87.

In the class for junior ensemble speaking of verse George Jay School B team was rated A and the same school's A team won a B rating.

The Royal Visit

U.S. Prepares To Receive King

Elaborate Preparations For Royal Visit Made in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt will meet King George and Queen Elizabeth at the railroad station when they arrive in Washington, June 8. They will then ride with them in a motor procession to the White House, where the British Royal couple will be guests during their two-day visit in the capital.

The official program of the visit as announced by the State Department discloses elaborate preparations have been made for an historic reception.

An official reception committee will meet the King and Queen at Niagara Falls, N.Y., when they cross the Canadian border into the United States during the evening of June 7. An official said the committee would be headed by Cordell Hull, Secretary of State.

The visit is the first in history of a reigning British King and Queen to United States. President Roosevelt extended the invitation after they had decided to make a trip to Canada.

Publication of the program indicates that, despite alarms of war in Europe and rumors of cancellation of the Royal Visit, both governments are going ahead with their preparations.

The official program follows: Wednesday, June 7: Their Majesties will enter the United States from Canada at Niagara Falls late in the evening.

Thursday, June 8: Their Majesties will arrive about 11 a.m. at the Union Station, Washington, where they will be met by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The King and Queen and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will motor in a procession to the White House, where the heads of missions of the diplomatic corps will subsequently be received.

After lunching privately at the White House, Their Majesties will attend a garden party at the British embassy in the afternoon.

In the evening, a state dinner, followed by a reception, will be given at the White House.

Friday, June 9: In the morning, Their Majesties, accompanied by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, will proceed to Mount Vernon by water on board the U.S.S. Potomac, lunching en route. After lunching, the King will lay a wreath on the tomb of George Washington. On leaving Mount Vernon the party will proceed by motor to Arlington Cemetery, where the King will lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Their Majesties and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will thereafter return to the White House. In the evening, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt will be the guests of Their Majesties at dinner at the British embassy.

After dinner, Their Majesties will leave for New York by train.

Saturday, June 10: Their Majesties will pay an official visit to New York City and thereafter will visit the New York World's Fair. In the afternoon they will proceed by motor to Hyde Park, where they will spend the night. The detailed arrangements for this day's program have not yet been determined.

Sunday, June 11: Their Majesties will spend the day quietly at Hyde Park, proceeding by train to Canada in the evening.

Fire losses in Victoria continued to set a new low record during March and were kept to $157.50 in 28 fires according to figures released by Chief Alex Munroe.

The streets of the city, particularly Yates Street, between Douglas and Blanshard, were only findings of fact. "How," he asked, "could you implement a finding of fact?"

He alleged the section was carefully worded to give the impression by the legislature, whereas, he held, the act was directly aimed at regulation of conditions, or correction of evils, disclosed in the document.

He challenged Attorney-General Wismer to show any evidence before the legislature, other than the report, to indicate the need for control in the gasoline business.

"Of course," it was common knowledge, at least in the cities, that the price of gasoline was outrageous," Mr. Wismer replied.

To further support his contention the report should be admitted, he traced its history, illustrating the economic council was utilizing its findings to draft orders.

Refinement of gasoline in British Columbia, its distribution and sale were merely parts of a unit industry which had as its primary purpose the profitable marketing of crude oil and its products from the well forward, Senator Farris said yesterday to show the interprovincial and international aspects of the industry. The business extended from the well to the service station and, consequently, was beyond the bounds of provincial legislation, he held.

The price-fixing clauses of the act, did not "hit where they aimed," he stated, noting price fixing was not the way to regulate the number or type of service stations. That could be accomplished by licensing, which fell within the jurisdiction of the province.

British Columbia gasoline companies were subsidiaries of outside concerns and legislation affecting them carried right along the line to the parent groups, he said.

Leaving discussion of the intent of the act, Senator Farris remarked he would also deal with its results. They were clearly interprovincial and international in aspect, he noted, remarking the effects were the acid test of legislation on that point.

The province, he said, was given jurisdiction over trade and commerce as it fell within the ambit of powers over property and civil rights, but not for regulation of trade and commerce.

He replied to Mr. Wismer's argument in respect to prohibition legislation in the liquor field by stating the province had been given the right to curb liquor sales to fight local evils, but not to govern the liquor trade itself.

At the beginning of yesterday afternoon's session Mr. Wismer put in the third volume of the MacDonald report.

"I contend the reports are not admissible at all, but if they are to be considered, the third volume should be filed," he said. The court gave him permission to speak to the third volume at a later date.

R. H. B. Ker of Victoria, who has been on a business visit to eastern cities, left Ottawa yesterday for Toronto after discussing Victoria matters with R. W. Mayhew, M.P. From Toronto Mr. Ker will return home, stopping at Calgary for a meeting with business associates there.

Continues Gas Companies Case

Amending Act of 1938 Attacked By Senator Farris in Price Appeal

By the amending act of 1938, the provincial legislature sought, beyond its powers, to prevent court consideration of the Macdonald report, which provided evidence of the intent and effect of the Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board Act, Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., counsel for the oil companies, contended today as he continued respondents' case on the price-fixing clauses of the act before the Court of Appeal today.

The province is appealing the decision of Mr. Justice Manson declaring ultra vires those price-fixing clauses.

The report, Senator Farris contended, should be admitted not only to show the legislature had knowledge of evils to be remedied, which provided a clear indication of the intent of the act—but also to show the effect of the legislation.

He alleged the amending legislation of 1938 aimed at frustrating the court action over the original control act.

He read the section of the amending act to the effect it was not the intention of the legislature to implement the recommendations of any report. There were no recommendations in the Macdonald report. There were only findings of fact. "How," he asked, "could you implement a finding of fact?"

He alleged the section was carefully worded to give the impression by the legislature, whereas, he held, the act was directly aimed at regulation of conditions, or correction of evils, disclosed in the document.

He challenged Attorney-General Wismer to show any evidence before the legislature, other than the report, to indicate the need for control in the gasoline business.

"Of course," it was common knowledge, at least in the cities, that the price of gasoline was outrageous," Mr. Wismer replied.

To further support his contention the report should be admitted, he traced its history, illustrating the economic council was utilizing its findings to draft orders.

Refinement of gasoline in British Columbia, its distribution and sale were merely parts of a unit industry which had as its primary purpose the profitable marketing of crude oil and its products from the well forward, Senator Farris said yesterday to show the interprovincial and international aspects of the industry. The business extended from the well to the service station and, consequently, was beyond the bounds of provincial legislation, he held.

The price-fixing clauses of the act, did not "hit where they aimed," he stated, noting price fixing was not the way to regulate the number or type of service stations. That could be accomplished by licensing, which fell within the jurisdiction of the province.

British Columbia gasoline companies were subsidiaries of outside concerns and legislation affecting them carried right along the line to the parent groups, he said.

Leaving discussion of the intent of the act, Senator Farris remarked he would also deal with its results. They were clearly interprovincial and international in aspect, he noted, remarking the effects were the acid test of legislation on that point.

The province, he said, was given jurisdiction over trade and commerce as it fell within the ambit of powers over property and civil rights, but not for regulation of trade and commerce.

He replied to Mr. Wismer's argument in respect to prohibition legislation in the liquor field by stating the province had been given the right to curb liquor sales to fight local evils, but not to govern the liquor trade itself.

At the beginning of yesterday afternoon's session Mr. Wismer put in the third volume of the MacDonald report.

"I contend the reports are not admissible at all, but if they are to be considered, the third volume should be filed," he said. The court gave him permission to speak to the third volume at a later date.

R. H. B. Ker of Victoria, who has been on a business visit to eastern cities, left Ottawa yesterday for Toronto after discussing Victoria matters with R. W. Mayhew, M.P. From Toronto Mr. Ker will return home, stopping at Calgary for a meeting with business associates there.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORT
With the opening of the girls' baseball season at Victoria High School House I was victorious over House II in a high-scoring game, 23 to 21.

With the increased interest in girls' baseball this season it has been necessary for the establish- ment of three leagues, each house entering a team in each league. League B will play Tuesdays, league A on Wednesdays, and league C on Thursdays, continu- ing until the end of the season.

Prime Minister Michael Savage is conferring with Peter Fraser, Minister of Health, on the doc- tors' attitude. He contends the scheme represents the best social system in the world and that benefits available are essential to the well-being of the community.

"I know of no wiser investment than this expenditure on social services, which will increase the efficiency of the country," he said. "This step represents a landmark in our history."

Clergy Urged to Refuse Recruiting
CHICHESTER, Eng. (CP) - Rt. Rev. George Bell, Bishop of Chichester, has made a plea in his diocesan gazette that the clergy should not become combatants nor take part in recruit- ing in the event of war.

"Statesmen and politicians," The Bishop's article says, "call men to political action and ex- hort men to stand by the nation in a time of great trial. Chris- tian ministers do right in bring- ing out the moral issue at stake. They must not condone violence and injustice.

"Even if, which God forbid, war were to break out they should to the utmost possible extent keep 'above the battle,' and while entering in the fullest and most self-sacrificing way into the sufferings of those engaged in war, in no circumstances should they undertake combatant service themselves.

"Nor should the clergy (in our opinion) undertake the task of recruiting for the services."

About 50 letters a day ask the Interior Department about prop- erts for settling in Alaska's Matanuska colony, but the colony is not being expanded.

MAKING HISTORY
The Pittsburgh Pirates are the same club which folded in the home stretch last season. The Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Bees have made improvements in vital spots, and while Casey Stengel and Leo Durocher are managers who should get a lot of hustle out of their clubs, they don't appear to have enough to win a pennant. The Cardinals, like the Dodgers, are a young ball club. The Phillies should be playing in the same league with the St. Louis Browns and Ath- letics.

MAKING HISTORY
The Pittsburgh Pirates are the same club which folded in the home stretch last season. The Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Bees have made improvements in vital spots, and while Casey Stengel and Leo Durocher are managers who should get a lot of hustle out of their clubs, they don't appear to have enough to win a pennant. The Cardinals, like the Dodgers, are a young ball club. The Phillies should be playing in the same league with the St. Louis Browns and Ath- letics.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a young man of 23, desperately in love with the wife of my best friend, and I am in terrible despair not only for myself but for him. My work and home life throws me constantly with this grand couple and I would have to wreck my career in order to get out of their company. If another man in my situation would ask me what to do I should shout: "Get out of their lives. Pronto!" Yet here I am willing, but unable to do what I know is the manly thing to do. Help me out.

A CAD WITH A CONSCIENCE.
Answer: Take your own advice. It is the only thing to do. It is far better to wreck your career than to wreck three lives. Anyway, you would never be happy or successful torn between love and honor.
DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a schoolboy and it seems that my tongue just tightens up on me and I can't make it work as nimbly as other people. No matter how hard I try, I can't make words flow out freely. I can't think of a thing in the world to say. People think I am unfriendly, but I am just dumb. What can I do to overcome this?
R. S. T.

Answer: Maybe the reason your tongue doesn't work is because you don't give it enough exercise. Limber it up by just babbling and before you know it you will be going strong. Talking is just a matter of habit. You are young and shy, and that makes you self-conscious, and you have an idea that any one should have something important to say. Forget it. Nobody wants casual talk to be instructive or startling or informative. So just say the first thing that comes into your head and you will find yourself as entertaining as the other girls and boys you know.
DOROTHY DIX.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fairly good fortune, but health should be safeguarded. For men success in aviation or military service is forecast. HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, April 20, 1939

According to astrology this is not an important day in planetary direction. Adverse aspects are mildly active. Routine work should be successful. Women are subject to kindly stars today, but they must not take any chances in love or works. There is a sign indicating much deception in dealings with them under this configuration. Efforts to obtain equal pay for equal work for women will achieve limited success. Competition with men will be bitterly protested and in certain professions will be prevented, it is forecast.

There is a promising sign for love affairs that are more practical than romantic. Widows in great numbers will be married this year. Under this configuration girls may be fickle. They may often change their minds regarding their chosen fields of work. Uncertainty regarding departures from established lines of work may prevent advantageous enterprises today, which is not auspicious for beginning new projects. Warning is given that the average mind may reflect widespread adverse influences. War rumors will register on many

Disgrace If Festival Last

Adjudicator Calls Lack of Support of Victoria Event Catastrophic

"It will, I feel, be a disgrace if Victoria, the most beautiful spot in Canada, the seat of the government of the province, is to be the first city in the whole of Canada to relinquish its effort for music," Dr. J. Frederic Staton, choral adjudicator, said during the opening ceremony of the Victoria Musical Festival in First United Church last night.

Speaking after Alderman Ed Williams, who declared the festival open in the absence of Mayor Andrew McGavin, Dr. Staton looked over the sparse audience in the hall and said: "It is rather depressing to find an audience like this. The people who are carrying on this festival are not moneyed people, but people who have jobs to do each day and are giving valuable time in an effort to make it a success."

"I understand that unless this festival pays it will be the last one to be held here."

"That, I feel, would be a catastrophe."

Dr. Staton spoke of festivals across Canada, even in such small places as Nanaimo, which were supporting themselves and growing yearly in the number of entrants and in their audiences.

TEACH CHILDREN BEAUTY

The festivals had their chief value in teaching the city's school children—its future citizens—to appreciate and seek for beauty.

"Isn't that worth while?" he asked. Earlier P. C. Routley, president of the festival association, had made an urgent plea for support, indicating that if the festival continued to lose money as it has done for several years past the 13th annual event now in progress would be the last.

Alderman Williams, in a speech welcoming the adjudicators and competitors from outside Victoria, said: "It is a good thing that we have a group of people working for the betterment of their fellow men and women and for the appreciation of the finer things."

"There is a tremendous amount of work in a festival," he went on. "I hope the public will give it every support."

Lieder Class of Festival Judged

Peggy Walton and Denise Mara Win Robert
Schumann Cup

The Robert Schumann Cup for the best performance in the Victoria Musical Festival's lieder class—described by Adjudicator George Dodds as "probably the most important singing class in the festival"—was won last night by Peggy Walton, vocalist, and Denise Mara, pianist.

They were awarded 83 marks for their performance of Schubert's "The Erl King," which Arthur Benjamin, who adjudicated the class jointly with Mr. Dodds, called "quite the most daring choice that a woman lieder singer can make."

Three teams, Jean Burnett-Marjorie Margison, Josephine Charlebois-Evelyn Harper and Clemency Ord-Phyllis Hick, tied for second place with 82 marks. There were 11 entries in the class in which Jean Routley and Audrey Mills took first place last year.

The Masonic D Quartette took first place in the male voice quartette class with 83-83-164 against 83-80-163 for the only other entry, Masonic C Quartette.

In his adjudication Dr. J. Frederic Staton commented he preferred the runner-up group's performance of the first test piece, but that the winners were far superior in the second piece. In his general remarks he stressed the importance of the second bass providing a solid foundation in quartette singing.

VIOLIN AND PIANO

John Pepper and Jean Routley won first place with 83 marks in the class for senior violin and piano, judged as a team. Julia Vent-Jones and Doreen Briggs, the only other entry, received 81 marks.

In his adjudication Mr. Benjamin said the winners gave Beethoven's "Sonata in D Major" the vitality proper to music of the period before the composer's deafness, even though their performance was not so refined musically as that of the other team. Their rhythmic impulse was strong and their attack clear, he added.

St. Aidan's United Church Choir retained the Gyro Club Challenge Shield in the class for Grade C choirs, in which it was the only entrant. Dr. Staton gave it a mark of 82-80-162 for its performance of Watt's "God of Abraham, Praise" and "O Wisdom, Spirit" by Tertius Noble, and commended its accuracy and the way in which it preserved beauty of tone.

LLOYD GEORGE
49 YEARS M.P.

Former Premier
Starts 50th Year
In British Commons

LONDON (CP)—David Lloyd George passed another milestone in his long parliamentary career yesterday. When the House of Commons resumed its session after the Easter recess it marked the start of Mr. Lloyd George's 50th year as a member.

He first took his seat April 17, 1890—budget day. Eighteen years after that the vigorous Welsh Liberal, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, introduced the first of his own budgets.

The wartime prime minister, 76 last January, still starts the day writing in bed and takes a cold bath before breakfast. He continues to enjoy golf, though his handicap persists around 18. Only a handful of the members of the House of Commons of 1890 are still alive. Five of them now are peers—the Marquess of Salisbury, the Earl of Balfour, Baron Shuttleworth, Viscount Ullswater and the Earl of Midleton.

Mr. Lloyd George's half century in parliament is far from being a record. W. E. Gladstone was in the house for 61 years.

The wartime prime minister's whole career has been as member for Carnarvon, Wales, where he was elected April 10, 1890.

Newcastlers Meet
At Music Festival

George Dodds Reminisces
With Fairbridge Boys
During Choir Class

The Victoria Musical Festival produced an unusual reunion in First United Church yesterday afternoon—between George Dodds of Newcastle and 10 former Newcastle boys whose singing he was adjudicating.

The boys were members of the Fairbridge Elementary School choir, down from the Fairbridge Farm School, near Duncan, to compete in the public rural elementary school choir class of the festival.

For several minutes before starting his adjudication Mr. Dodds talked of familiar places around Newcastle with the young emigrants and found that several had listened to performances by the famous Gateshead choir, of which he is conductor.

Mr. Dodds and Dr. Frederic Staton adjudicated five school choir classes during the afternoon session of the festival.

Because of a ruling made by the Department of Education two years ago school choirs take part in the festival on a noncompetitive basis and no marks are awarded, the adjudicators limiting themselves this year to giving A, B and C grades.

"The first thing is that the children should be interested, regardless of the quality of the selections," Mr. Dodds commented on the work of the grade 1 choirs, in which the only two entries, both from Spring Ridge School, earned ratings of A and B.

In the grade 2 section, Bank Street School was rated as B and Spring Ridge as C. "It is important to suit your words to the size of the hall," commented Dr. Staton, who ran through portions of the test pieces with the choirs.

Mr. Dodds rated Oaklands School A and Sir James Douglas School B in the grade 3 class, commenting on the good pace and rhythm in both performances, and the attention to detail given by the Oaklands choir.

Oaklands School also won an A rating in the grade 4 class, tying with Sir James Douglas School, with praise from Dr. Staton for its good tone and rhythm, fair enunciation and soft treatment of the test pieces.

SENIOR PIANO CLASSES

During the afternoon five piano classes were judged in First Baptist Church by Arthur Benjamin.

Martha Ferguson took first place in the senior solo class with a mark of 83 for her performance of Mozart's "Fantasy in C Minor," and will compete for the senior piano championship trophy tomorrow.

Mr. Benjamin spent 45 minutes in his adjudication of this class, himself playing the whole of the long test piece. He commended the winner for real expression and good shaping of the phrases.

Phyllis Muriel Hick was runner-up with 82 marks. In his general comment, Mr. Benjamin warned against deviating from the music as written down by the composer, saying, "It is not right in a senior class that he should hear grammatical errors."

Lorraine Cornish was first in the junior girls' piano solo class, with 169 marks. Dorothy Craig placed second with 166 and Freda Natrass was third of the 10 entrants with 163.

In his comment on the class, Mr. Benjamin appealed to teachers of junior players to mark the music with stress marks so that their pupils would understand the trend of the pieces.

John Beckwith, the only entrant in the boys' junior class, was awarded 162 marks, and praised for his good contrasts and tone. "I cannot think why there was no competition in this class," said the adjudicator.

The two piano duet classes judged during the afternoon only produced two entries each. In the grade 2 class, Joy Collins and Noreen Weismuller took first place with 162 marks, against 159 for Betty Hickey and Louise Powell.

In the grade 3 class Doris Hallier and John Saul were awarded 161 marks, and Dulcinea and Rita Fecteau 158. In his adjudication Mr. Benjamin appealed for a balance of phrase as well as of loudness in duet playing.

ELOCUTION CLASSES

Meanwhile five elocution classes were being judged in the lower hall of First Baptist Church by Mrs. J. P. Fergusson.

Gordon Lyall won first place in the junior boys' class with a mark of 89. He was praised for seeing the picture painted by the poet in the test piece and passing it on vividly to his audience.

June Copping, Vancouver, was first in the girls' intermediate class with 90, and Basil Plimley

O'Connor, rated the best amateur centre in Quebec, missed both games because of a shoulder injury, but he will be back for the third tomorrow, and if he can hit his stride Royals may well score their first victory.

ROCK GARDEN CLUB

Members of the Victoria Rock Garden Society were given suggestions on alpine plant "panning" or planting in low flower pots at this season, that would bloom for next year's show, by W. H. A. Preece, Monday evening at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

During the course of his address Mr. Preece showed some 30 slides of rock garden plants now in bloom and spoke briefly on each.

In addition to Mr. Preece's slides, a number were shown of the rock garden show held last month in the Crystal Garden, which proved one of the most successful functions of the organization. Eight hundred persons attended, and the show realized a profit of $111.

A. B. Morkill was winner of the "pan" competition, while F. H. Lohbrunner, F. Wiper and Mrs. J. A. Hiberson also exhibited specimens.

The garden of Mrs. W. Wilkie, 988 Newport Avenue, will be open to members of the club on Thursday and Saturday afternoons from 2 until 7. The Beaumont garden on Discovery Island will also be open to members of the club on Sunday. The Beaumont yacht will leave from the Yacht Club for the island at 2, and will return at 6. Those intending to go are asked to get in touch with Mrs. C. Baker, Sinclair Road, not later than Friday.
